Plane Wreckage Seen In Alaska; Fear 18 Killed

SEATTLE (AP)—Pan American Airways announced today that wreckage of its missing DC-4 airliner had been sighted on an Annette Island mountainside, near Ketchikan, Alaska. The plane vanished last Sunday with 18 aboard.

The reported crash site is on the north side of Tangas Mountain, six miles east of the Annette Island/landing field, where Pilot Alf N. Monsen reported Sunday that extreme turbulence had turned him back from a scheduled landing.

A report from Juneau said a Pan-American searching plane had spotted the wreckage near the top of the 3,600-foot mountain, badly smashed. A search party was en route to the scene. R.C.A.F. planes and boats had taken part in the search.

SEEN BY PILOT'S SON

Wesley Monsen, son of Pilot Alf N. Monsen of the crashed airliner, said he flew over the wreckage and "apparently all had been killed instantly."

He said there was no question about the wrecked plane's identification. The plane was partially burned.

The clipper, the Tallman, was en route from Seattle to Juneau, Alaska. It carried 13 passengers and a crew of five. Most of the passengers were residents of Alaska or Seattle.

Boost In Oil Prices For All Of Canada Except B.C.

TORONTO (CP)—Wholesale price increases in gasoline and other petroleum products, including kerosene, tractor distillate, stove oil and other fuel oils and asphalts, effective immediately, were announced today by Imperial Oil Ltd.

The price changes range on the average from 7/10 to 1 1/2 cents for gasoline and kerosene; 7/10 to 1 cent for tractor distillate; 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents for stove oil; 1/2 to 1 1/4 cents for furnace and other light fuel oils; 1/2 to 3/4 cent for heavy fuel oils and 1/2 cent for asphalts.

At nearly all Ontario points gasoline and kerosene advance one cent and stove oil and furnace fuel oils 1 1/4 cents. Heavy fuel oils and asphalts advance 1/2 cent.

SAY COSTS INCREASE

Reasons for the increase, as given by Imperial Oil Ltd., are an increase of 10 per cent in rail freight rates effective Oct. 13 in the United States, where most of Canada's crude oil and imported products are obtained, an increase of 20 cents a barrel in crude oil prices in the United States effective Oct. 14, and increased expense to meet unprecedented demand.

The announced price increases, an official of the company said, applies in varying degree across Canada except for British Columbia, where the company is awaiting clarification of crude oil and petroleum products prices in California, the supply base for B.C.

The official added that although the price increases released today applied only to wholesale or tank wagon prices, he had no doubt the increases would be passed on to the consumers by the retailers.

"It is not likely that retailers would absorb the increase," he said. "The last price increase in fuel oil announced July 21 was passed on."

Hospitals Request Grants Be Doubled

Double the provincial and municipal per capita grant now paid hospitals is sought from the provincial government by the British Columbia Hospitals Association in a resolution passed at the 30th annual convention, in the Empress Hotel today.

Ramadier May Reshuffle Cabinet Despite Victory

PARIS (AP)—Parliamentarians and even associates of Socialist Premier Paul Ramadier declared today that the present middle of the road French government would have to be reshuffled again soon, despite Thursday's vote of confidence in the National Assembly.

The vote for the government—300 to 280, with 18 abstentions—followed two days of a fist-shaking, name-calling debate, but despite the excitement, many deputies appeared more interested in discussions outside the chamber about the possible future make-up of Ramadier's cabinet.

Many deputies expressed belief the government would have to be shaken up within a month so as to bring in such figures as Leon Blum, former Premier and elder statesman of the Socialist Party, and Paul Reynaud, an Independent Rightist who was the last Premier before the fall of France.

They noted that the Ramadier government, while fighting to hold the price line firm, had been forced to give away repeatedly before Leftist-backed labor demands for wage increases.

Thursday's vote of confidence, in which Ramadier's margin of victory fell short of what some observers thought he would get, found 159 M.R.P., 104 Socialists, 22 Radical Socialists and 15 Independents arrayed for the government.

Report U.S. Group Plans Railway Link Vancouver-Alaska

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans for construction of a railroad from Vancouver to Fairbanks, Alaska, are under consideration by a group of private investors.

Marshall Ramsey Diggs, Washington counsel for the group, said today his clients had been studying the project for several years and he hoped to be able to announce definite plans, along with the names of the backers, within 30 days.

Diggs said the idea calls for taking over 345 miles of railroad now owned by British Columbia and building another 1,000 miles to Fairbanks, where the proposed line would connect with the Alaska Railroad.

Diggs predicted either his group or some other "will start this railroad within three or four years."

NO PROMISE YET

"The present plans contemplate that the railroad will be constructed by private capital. We hope that after we reach Alaska our government will aid in the construction, but we have received no commitments from it though government officials have shown great interest."

"We are anxious that a railroad be built to the territory for we believe it is the only way it ever will be opened up."

"And, in view of the present Russian situation, we should have such a connection with our territory."

Premier John Hart said today that officials of the company of which Mr. Diggs is counsel, had been in touch with him.

"They were advised by me that I was not in a position to discuss the matter with them until I had exhausted my position with the Dominion government and the two national railways," he said.

Mr. Hart for some time has been negotiating with the Dominion government and the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways for a four-way partnership with British Columbia to extend the provincially-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway, into the Peace River district.

Higher Rate May Follow Raise Of B.C.E.R. Wages

If both the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd., and striking B.C.E.R. employees remain adamant over the present transportation tie-up, an increase in the fare structure is almost inevitable, according to Mayor Percy George, who addressed the retail merchants' section of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce this morning.

Meeting to discuss the transportation strike, which is hitting Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster, the retail merchants heard the mayor say that if the wage increase demands of striking B.C.E.R. employees were met, the way would be opened to the company to go to the Public Utilities Commission to seek a higher rate structure.

The mayor, who attended a six-hour meeting between leading civic officials of the three strike-bound cities Thursday, said they had come away "stymied."

He sought suggestions which might lead to a solution of the problem.

The section, in response to the mayor's appeal, appointed a four-man committee, including Percy Scourrah, chairman of the section;

Blames Vancouver Group

Ald. H. M. Diggon, chairman of the city transportation committee, blamed the strike on the Vancouver union group, whose politically-trained thinkers, he said, had forced other B.C.E.R. employees to vote in favor of the strike.

The striking employees would willingly have gone back to work if it had not been for the Vancouver group, he claimed.

The provincial government was the only group which could solve the problem, he said, and asked the merchants to seek civic support in a demand that the provincial government bring an end to the strike.

H. C. Holmes wanted to know if the company, under the franchise, was obliged to provide transportation in the event of a strike. He understood, he said, that many strikers were now doing other work and that the strike could continue for a long time.

Store Clerks To Suffer

Asked if public opinion had been sought in the matter, Mayor George answered no mandate had been sought, but he did not think any mandate could make civic officials do more than they are already doing.

Neither did he think the cities had the authority to go to the company and demand provision of transportation.

Mr. MacDonald, a member of the committee struck by the section, said the strike had already hit hard at downtown employees. He estimated 50 per cent of downtown store employees would be laid off and would not get their jobs back until the strike is settled.

Reverses For Valera Bring Eire General Election In 1948

LONDON (AP)—The Press Association said tonight Prime Minister Eamon de Valera had announced he would call a general election in Eire early in 1948.

LOSE 2 OF 3 CONTESTS

DUBLIN (CP)—Eire today was confronted with the possibility of a new general election after defeats suffered by Prime Minister Eamon de Valera's Fianna Fail (Government Party) in two out of three by-elections held Thursday to fill vacancies in the Dail (Parliament).

The government party was beaten in the vital County Dublin by-election by Sean McBride, a young lawyer and leader of the recently-formed Republican Party known as Clann Na Poblachta. McBride polled 29,629 votes to 20,197 for Thomas Mullins, general secretary of Fianna Fail.

REGARDED AS TEST

Before the County Dublin by-election, De Valera had announced he would consider the outcome a test of confidence in his government. He indicated that if the government's position were weakened he would have no choice but to call a general election.

The Republican candidate in County Tipperary, Patrick Kinane, 40-year-old former Irish Republican army officer, defeated Sean Hayes of the Fianna Fail, 23,365 votes to 21,647.

Mr. King Not Retiring Yet He Hints In New York Talk

NEW YORK (CP)—Prime Minister King said here today on his arrival from Ottawa that Canada's choice for its representative on the United Nations Security Council "has not yet been made," but indicated it would likely be announced while he was absent in England for the royal wedding.

"It is an extremely important post, an extremely important one," said the Prime Minister.

He said External Affairs Minister St. Laurent would be "in communication with me from time to time," he added.

To questions about his own future plans for retiring from the Liberal Party leadership and political life, he just gave a bland smile and said "There is nothing new on me."

EXPECTS BENEFITS

"But you know," he said, "I hope to get new energy from this trip."

The Prime Minister spent today in New York and will sail on the Ss. Queen Elizabeth for Southampton late tomorrow morning.

He will attend the royal wedding Nov. 20, make a brief trip to the continent and probably have informal talks with British and Commonwealth leaders in London before returning to Ottawa in time for the new session of Parliament called Thursday night for Dec. 5.

This afternoon the Canadian Club of New York presented the Prime Minister with its award medal, presented annually in recognition of outstanding contributions to "the harmony of relationship and mutual welfare of Canada and the United States and the British Commonwealth."

Previous recipients of the award medal were Cordell Hull, former United States Secretary of State who was given the award in 1946, and Sir Gerald Campbell, former British minister in Washington, who received his in 1940.

Mr. King also will receive an illuminated scroll praising his statesmanship and record tenure of office.

Saanich Girl, 18 Sent To Trial In Manslaughter Case

June Robinson, 18, Glenford Avenue, Saanich, was committed for trial in a higher court today on a manslaughter charge by Magistrate H. C. Hall in a special session of Saanich police court. Preliminary hearing was concluded Thursday afternoon and delay in the pronouncement of the committal was requested by defence counsel George F. Gregory.

Bail has been set at $3,000. The charge against Miss Robinson arose from the tragedy that took place on the afternoon of Oct. 4 when a car being driven by the accused failed to negotiate a turn from Shelbourne Street west on Cedar Hill Crossroad, crashed through the side of a house at 1569 Cedar Hill Crossroad and killed Luther Holling, 77, who was asleep in bed.

Evidence in the hearing last week was from the owner of the car, Donald E. Hawthorne, Anchorage Road, Esquimalt Lagoon, that he had been giving Miss Robinson advice on how to drive the car the afternoon the accident occurred. When he saw the car was not going to negotiate the turn, he reached over and grasped the wheel. He could not turn it and said he did not know if there was something wrong with the steering gear or whether accused had frozen on the wheel.

Concluding Crown evidence heard yesterday from Sgt. Cecil Pearce of the Saanich police, who said the car had been stored at the Saanich Municipal Hall, Royal Oak, since the accident, and from Cecil Altham, 590 Gorge Road West, a mechanic who investigated the steering mechanism after the crash.

Mr. Altham said he had found the steering gear intact, that it would turn the wheels. Mr. Gregory got a reply from the witness in the affirmative that a small pebble could have got stuck in the steering mechanism and then been knocked out by the impact. Mr. Gregory said accused had nothing to say at this time.

Police Say Doctor Refused To Aid Man

VANCOUVER (CP)—The fourth instance in three weeks in which a seriously ill patient died after a doctor had allegedly spurned his call for aid was on the police books here today.

Officers said that a doctor, called at 12:25 Thursday morning, gave a flat refusal to treat 72-year-old Fred Broughton after the man had collapsed in his bathroom.

The medical man had been treating Broughton for a heart condition, but declined to answer the call in the early hours of the morning.

One Vancouver doctor suggested that persons requiring medical attention at odd hours of the night should consult the Doctors' Medical Service.

"Many of the older doctors in the city refuse to take calls at night because they find they cannot work night and day," he explained.

During the entire session the Legislature considered 171 bills. In the sittings since Oct. 22 it passed 28 government bills and one non-government measure.

Ask Speed-up Of Community Chest Returns To Office

Telephone reports from canvassers who have not yet turned in their collections because of the transportation strike have heartened Community Chest officials today who have been worried at the slowness of the returns for the campaign which today stood at only $36,985 on the $130,000 objective.

Ernest Heybroek, chairman of the business canvassers, has sent out a call to all his canvassers asking them to bring in all collections to date by Monday so that a more accurate appraisal can be given of how the campaign is actually going.

He stressed, however, that this was not a signal for canvassing to stop, as all canvassers were expected to carry on until they had contacted all firms on their lists.

D. G. Decker, executive secretary, said he had been greatly encouraged by the news from Port Alberni that two large firms there had donated $50,000 for Community Chest in the up-island community. "It would be a very good thing if Victoria firms would follow the excellent example set in Port Alberni," he commented.

Illegal Sweepstake Operators Warned May Be Barred From Mails

TORONTO (CP)—The Evening Telegram said Friday persons known to have received receipts for books of tickets on the Irish Hospitals Sweepstake have been warned by the Postmaster-General that should they persist in illegally using the Royal Mail for this purpose they will be placed on the mailing prohibited list.

The report said it was known that many Toronto purchasers of tickets on the Cambridgeshire Handicap Sweepstake, which brought fortunes to some Canadians yesterday, failed to receive receipts.

"It is further known that many of these receipts have been seized by the postal authorities and the name of the bookseller to whom the receipts were addressed, forwarded to Ottawa," the report continued.

"These booksellers are the persons who have been warned that unless they sign an assurance they will discontinue using the mails for such purposes they will be placed on the prohibited list."

Maritime Council To Advise On Offer

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor department officials said Thursday they had been advised the Maritime Joint Council of four A.F.L.-affiliated unions would meet here Nov. 7 in connection with the threatened strike of the Canadian Seamen Union's deep-sea members.

A department spokesman said it was understood the C.S.U. was withholding until then its decision on whether or not to accept government conciliation in its dispute with the Shipping Federation of Canada. The department's mediation offer has been accepted by the federation.

It was expected here that, until the meeting of the Joint Council—which includes the C.S.U.—there would be no major developments in the C.S.U.-Federation deadlock.

Police Stop Fight As Union Officers Try To Oust Locals

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police broke up a fight in the headquarters office of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' Union here Thursday when international union officers attempted to expel alleged Communist officers of local 28.

The local officers, president Emily Watts, business agent May Ansell, and assistant business agent Roy Moore, were ordered ousted by Hugo Ernest of Cincinnati, international president.

A battle royal was in progress when police answered a call to the office on Granville Street, with the centre of the dispute Archie Johnstone of Toronto, Canadian representative of the union, and James Morrison, Vancouver, assistant trustee.

There was a milling crowd in the office when police arrived amid flying fists and a general scuffle.

Police cleared the office and Miss Watts and her assistants were left in possession.

"Anytime anyone thinks they're going to take this office away from the membership, they've got a fight," she told reporters.

LOCK FAILED

Johnstone took over the headquarters office yesterday, placing a new lock on the door, but when he showed up today the local officers were in possession.

As he left the building after the fight, he announced he would seek a court order to regain possession. The press was told that international headquarters had ordered the removal of the local officers for allegedly being Communists.

"I am satisfied that some of the officers are Communists," Johnstone said. "We are not satisfied the union has been functioning in the best interests of the membership. . . . This affair is a defiance of the authority under which the union operates."

Conciliator For Britannia Dispute

VANCOUVER (CP)—Labor Minister Gordon Wismer announced Thursday a conciliation officer will be appointed in an attempt to avert an impending walkout of 500 workers of the Britannia Mining and Smelting Company.

The men, members of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, are scheduled to meet tomorrow in what is termed a final effort to gain their demands for wage increases which would boost their average daily earnings to $9.28.

A similar number of workers at Copper Mountain, B.C., also are said to have put forth the same wage demands, with a threat to strike if the increases are not granted.

LADYSMITH—Reimposition of Ladysmith's curfew by-law, sought by a P.T.A. delegation which appeared before the city council here, resulted in heated debate, with Ald. Joe Morris stating he was opposed to forms of legislation which would restrict the freedom of individuals, even youthful ones.

"Parental discipline should be sufficiently good to bring juveniles in from the streets at the proper time," he maintained.

If youngsters are abroad too late in the evenings, it is the fault of the parents, Mayor Jameson said. He added that while some measure of control might be necessary, there was no evidence of juvenile delinquency.

Imposition of a curfew, for at least the winter months, was asked for by A. Wiggs, Mrs. E. Hugh and Mrs. W. Hawkins, who comprised the delegation. Owing to the absence of two aldermen, the decision was deferred until the next meeting.

Labor Man Expelled From British House

LONDON (Reuter)—The House of Commons Thursday night expelled Labor member Garry Allighan for corruptly accepting payment for the disclosure of a secret party political information.

Allighan is a former Toronto newspaperman. Earlier the House had decided by 198 votes to 101 that Allighan had been guilty of dishonorable conduct, deserving severe punishment, for accepting such payments, and it was moved that Allighan be suspended for six months and reprimanded by the Speaker.

But an amendment favoring Allighan's expulsion from Parliament was moved by Quintin Hogg, Conservative, and was carried 187 to 75 after a lively debate.

Stabbing Case Is Remanded In Court

Still held in custody, Noel Smith, 755 Roderick Street, charged with causing Dorothy Smith grievous bodily harm, appeared in Saanich police court again Thursday afternoon and was remanded for another week. No action other than the remand was taken in the case.

The charge against Smith was laid by Saanich police Monday when his wife was found on a bed with a deep knife wound in her abdomen. On arriving at Jubilee Hospital she collapsed from loss of blood.

Romanian Admits Red Accusations

BUCHAREST (AP)—Victor Radulescu-Pogoneanu, former councillor of the Romanian Foreign Affairs Ministry, admitted to a military tribunal Thursday accusations against him in an indictment charging 19 leaders and associates in the National Peasant Party with high treason. Dr. Julius Maniu, 75-year-old leader of the party, and 18 of his associates went on trial on the charges Wednesday. Radulescu-Pogoneanu, who was interrogated by the court today, evaded implicating any of the other persons charged.

Rumor Of Plot Proves Unfounded

MONTREAL (CP)—A "red" scare, based on an unfounded rumor that Communists plotted "serious damage" to religious buildings in Montreal, sent police into a flurry of activity through Wednesday night and early Thursday but they called off guards assigned to religious centres, when investigation proved the rumor false.

Until noon, however, constables and plainclothesmen kept vigil at, and near St. James' Roman Catholic Cathedral and the Roman Catholic archbishop's palace not far from famed Dominion Square in the heart of downtown Montreal.

Says Push-Button War Long Way Off

AJAX, Ont. (CP)—Although there is no known physical defence against atomic war, the world is "a long way from the push-button type of warfare described in the sensational magazines," Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton said in an address here recently. Canadian representative on the United Nations atomic energy commission, he pulled no punches as he described the awful havoc of a future atomic war in an address Thursday night. To the University of Toronto Engineering Society at this postwar campus community 20 miles east of Toronto.

However, he said there was no need to "fear its outbreak on any significant scale for a while yet," and expressed optimism that international control of the atom bomb still could be found through the U.N., despite the reluctance of Russia to agree with other nations on its control.

Bombs, each several thousand times more powerful, weight for weight, than ordinary high explosive bombs, could be sent against other countries in many ways, he said.

CANADA'S EARLY SESSION

MR. MACKENZIE KING HAS SUMMONED the Canadian Parliament to meet on Dec. 5 to deal with business requiring "immediate attention." He made this announcement at a press conference yesterday prior to his departure for Great Britain to attend the wedding of Princess Elizabeth and Lieutenant Mountbatten—after which he will visit certain parts of continental Europe.

The significance of the government's decision to call the legislators to Ottawa nearly two months before the customary date of convening lies not in the Prime Minister's generalization, or even in his statement that it is necessary to consider the important trade treaties recently negotiated at the I.T.O. conference in Geneva, but in his failure to mention specifically the other business of which the cabinet—and the public—is fully aware. We mean, of course, this country's dwindling supply of American dollars and a trading account which shows the Dominion going "in the red" to the extent of nearly $80,000,000 monthly. And it will have been noted in this regard that Mr. King expects to deliver a broadcast from London on Nov. 18 when the full terms of Canada's new agreements are to be made known to our people.

Nov. 18, be it observed, is the day following that on which the Congress of the United States will meet to discuss the "Marshall Plan" for the economic rehabilitation of western Europe, and to consider numerous domestic problems indissolubly linked with the national economy, and its relationship to the condition of affairs in the Old World.

It would be presumptuous on our part to try to read into the timing of the Prime Minister's projected broadcast a direct connection with Mr. Truman's summoning of the lawmakers to Capitol Hill in Washington on Nov. 17. But in view of the indisputable fact that this Dominion will be expected to assume an important role as a supplier of certain food commodities to give effect to the program of the United States Secretary of State, it may likewise be assumed that Mr. King and Mr. Truman, through their representatives, have not omitted discussion as to what procedure shall be taken to bridge the gap separating Canada's exports to and her imports from her great and friendly neighbor.

Nobody is suggesting that some kind of secret arrangement has been made between the Prime Minister and the President, or that either believes that a mystic formula of economic adjustment can be produced by the push of a button; and little purpose will be served by wading too far out into the realm of conjecture.

PREPARING 'MARSHALL PLAN'

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON YESTERDAY hinted that when Secretary of State Marshall has put the finishing touches to the plan for European aid which bears his name the Congress will be asked to commit the people of the United States to a program that may cost them something like $20,000,000,000 during the next four years. This is a very large sum of money; but the gold bars buried at Fort Knox represent approximately $23,000,000,000.

It is not the size of the projected monetary allocation which is worrying Mr. Truman and his able Secretary of State; it is the kind of reception that will be given the plan by a Congress which, while subscribing to the basic principles of a foreign policy bereft of partisan flavor is, nevertheless, politically hostile to the administration. Already, for example, the chief executive has come under sharp criticism because he allegedly broke faith with Congressional leaders whom he promised a month ago to consult again before issuing his call to the lawmakers to return to Capitol Hill. This may seem a relatively insignificant matter to the outside observer; but it will be readily understood that those elements of the Republican Party, conceivably in the mood to miss no chance to make capital for the election campaign of next year, might hinder the implementation of the "Marshall Plan" if such a manoeuvre could be given the color of constitutional prudence. But several influential dailies in the neighboring Republic are warning the opportunists that playing party politics for party politics' sake could result in their being hoist with their own petard, as it were, when they appeal for votes in 1948—especially if hopes of western Europe's recovery were blasted in the meantime.

On the cost of the "Marshall Plan" over a four-year period, incidentally, it is interesting to note that Florida's Senator Claude Pepper would improve the program to which the Secretary of State is putting the finishing touches by allocating $10,000,000,000 a year for five years, instead of a total of $16,000,000,000 or $20,000,000,000 over four years, as the case may be. The special session of Congress, called to discuss the mechanics of the whole program, therefore, will have much material to examine.

Happily for the hard-pressed people of the Old World, fortunately for the many millions of Americans who may not be conversant with conditions obtaining far from their own doorsteps, and providentially for the future preservation of mankind, there is a great nation on the southern side of the 49th parallel which has the resources to strike an effective blow at the hydra-headed threat of another war.

FOR MORE NURSES

FEW CITIZENS OF THIS COMMUNITY—or of other Canadian centres—who have required hospital treatment in the last year or so, have failed to be impressed by the urgent need for more nurses. Current requirements tax to the extreme the capacities of the existing corps of women in white. And if health protective services are to be extended, as they should be, the need will continue to grow. For this reason, any plan to increase the number of young women entering the profession is worthy of consideration.

It is the belief of Miss Gertrude M. Hall, general secretary of the Canadian Nurses' Association, that government-financing of nurses' training schools within hospitals may furnish one method of overcoming the shortage. This suggests a precedent with wide implications. It might, for instance, provide grounds on which prospective entrants into other professions would seek similar subsidies. We raise the issue, not in any way to discount the suggestion made by Miss Hall, but to weigh her statement that: "All education is state-aided, so there is no reason why nursing should not be. Nurses' training should not be the sole responsibility of the hospital."

Miss Hall, of course, recognizes the fact that the pre-matriculation education secured by potential nurses—a requirement before they can begin specialized training—is also supplied by the state. And she is aware that hospitals, like universities, which give specialized courses for other vocations, are frequently assisted by governments.

The point remains, however, that hospitals cannot continue to carry the load they are assuming on the finances now afforded them. Nor can a curative establishment raise indefinitely its rates for patients who need attention but cannot meet the costs entailed. Hospitals must have greater help. They need much more money. They need more nurses. Since health is a matter of vital national importance, the suggestion that the government assume training costs has the compelling virtue of practical necessity.

The legalistic mind could find many objections to this argument—among them the point we have raised on subsidy. But it is going to require more than a legalistic mind to staff hospitals; and when they are understaffed, the physical well-being of citizens in the communities they serve is in jeopardy.

NOT OTTAWA'S FAULT

MANY CANADIANS ARE BEGINNING to wonder whether or not they were right in advocating the removal of controls. The average housewife is now trying to budget in the face of the gradual increase in the cost of food and other commodities. This condition was to be expected. Here and in the editorial columns of one or two other Canadian newspapers it has been argued that once controls were removed they would affect certain basic price structures and the inflationary spiral could get out of hand.

But for more than two years the interests which lost patience with those who warned against a "boom-or-bust" theory have been insisting in their cries. The burden of their argument was: Remove controls, give us the materials essential to production, and we will soon produce the supply and demand equilibrium without which this country cannot win that measure of prosperity to which it is entitled. All of this sounded hopeful. Anti-King administration interests took up the theme with enthusiasm. As leader of the Progressive Conservative Party of Canada, Mr. Bracken and his lieutenants, trying to score some political advantage, joined the chorus and figuratively shouted themselves hoarse in their demands for the removal of such restrictions as they tried to make out were militating against national recovery.

We mention these facts for the reason that those newspapers which showed little patience with the policies of the King government are now beginning to realize that they, colloquially speaking, were barking up the wrong tree. Our esteemed contemporary, the Vancouver Daily Province, for example, now says that "governments can be blamed for much and are by nature much blameworthy, but it is not just to blame the existing government at Ottawa for lifting the wartime controls," because "the truth is that the people of Canada, right or wrong, wanted them lifted." The mainland newspaper has put the whole business in simple form.

This situation is now apparent to the anti-control elements. They are realizing the merit inherent in the warnings against any policy calculated to send up the inflationary spiral. They must accept their share of the responsibility for the present swing of the economic pendulum. The administration at Ottawa, of course, is the servant of the people.

The question no longer is: Did Bacon write Shakespeare? It's: Where can you get it?

Prairie Election Winds

By JAMES H. GRAY, From Winnipeg
THE ELECTION WINDS are beginning to blow in Saskatchewan and Alberta. Both incumbent administrations are showing the usual coyness about when elections will come, but the chances are both will go to the polls in 1948.

At the moment, the chances of either the Alberta Social Crediters or the Saskatchewan C.C.F.'ers being defeated are rather remote, though things can change quickly. In Alberta, government supporters occupy 51 of the 60 seats while in Saskatchewan it is 47 out of 55.

IN BOTH ALBERTA and Saskatchewan the Liberal Party is under new management. Harper Provis was elected to the Alberta Legislature as an armed services representative for the army. He took over the leadership of the Liberal Party early this year and has been giving the organization problem his full-time attention ever since. Walter Tucker, federal Liberal M.P. for Rosthern, has completed his first year as head of the Saskatchewan Liberal Party.

New leadership and the intensive organizational drive is bound to pay some dividends. The trouble which both leaders will have, however, is in turning up a valid issue that will appeal strongly enough to the electors to turn the incumbents out.

LACKING A PUBLIC SCANDAL of some kind, and you can hear some whisperings in Calgary, it is going to be difficult to defeat the Manning government in Alberta. The Conservatives are out of the field, provincially, and no doubt many former Tory voters will swing their votes to Social Credit.

Alberta Conservatives will support Social Credit candidates for two reasons. Aside from monetary monkeyshines, Premier Manning is, conceded to have given the province reasonably competent government. Any resurgence of Liberal fortunes in provincial politics would strengthen the federal Liberal Party. So a lot of people who wouldn't be seen dead with a Social Credit monetary theory will cast votes for the Manning candidates.

THE LIBERAL PARTY in Alberta is in the unfortunate position of being a vehicle for the expression of resentment against the federal government. There are many people who feel that the King administration has given up Alberta, and hence can safely pay no attention to Alberta's problems and agitations.

There is no doubt that the continued embargo on cattle shipments to the United States is a serious grievance among the ranchers and farmers generally in Alberta. It is raised at every cattlemen's meeting and is the subject of endless resolution passing. The young Liberal leader is not to be blamed for federal policies, but these policies are making him no friends, influencing no electors in his direction.

WHAT MAY CUT ICE, politically, in Alberta are relatively minor issues. Alberta is better off for paved highways than either Manitoba or Saskatchewan. Yet motorists are screaming loudly about Alberta roads. They complain that money is wasted because roads are badly built. They mention the Calgary-Edmonton Highway which was only recently resurfaced and shows signs of deterioration. They rage about the lack of maintenance of the gravelled roads and assert that, anyway, the roads are too narrow for safety or comfort.

Another local issue is the manner in which the government has granted huge oil leases to the Imperial Oil. Most of the farmers in the new Leduc field will gain nothing from the discovery of oil under their land except payment for surface use. The odd one, whose title antedated Confederation, reaped a harvest because he had mineral rights as well as surface rights. That has caused a great deal of discontent.

THE C.C.F., by all accounts, will likely make little headway in Alberta. From Saskatchewan the same report is heard about Social Credit. The party is organizing vigorously all over the province and while it is gaining adherents is not regarded as an important factor in the coming election.

More potent, in Saskatchewan, are regional gripes. The packinghouse strike probably lost the government some support among the farmers. The fishermen and lumber operators in the north have been complaining about the losses they suffer through the operation of the government fish marketing and lumber boards. The operation of the government health insurance scheme has created unfriendliness in many districts. Its reduction of its payments to old age pensioners is now regarded as a serious tactical error.

YET WHETHER these complaints are strongly enough held to impel electors to vote against the government is doubted by many. They expect a reduction in the government's following in the Legislature. That would be a normal development. But people prepared to bet that Mr. Tucker will be the next Premier of Saskatchewan are not too easy to find.

Such Is The Life Of The World's Trouble-Shooter

The 'Plan' Will Mean Hard Work

By PETER EDSQV, From Washington

CARRYING out the Marshall Plan to aid Europe is going to be no breeze. The outlook for getting the Europeans enough to eat is bad, but the outlook for getting them enough steel and manufactured goods is worse.

This is shown by comparing import requirements of the 16 western European nations with American surpluses available for export. The things Europe needs worst are things the United States is also short of. The Paris Report of the 16-nation Committee of European Economic Co-operation admits there will be a four-year shortage of 12,000,000 short tons of ingots and semi-finished steel.

COKE AND STEEL

This assumes that Europe will be able to import all the coke it needs, plus 15,000,000 tons of rich iron ore, 8,000,000 tons of scrap and 3,000,000 tons of manganese. There is no assurance this can be done. The United States is now exporting steel to Europe at the rate of 1,500,000 tons a year. This is about half of the 3,000,000 tons required.

The United States may be able to supply all the coking coal that's needed. There is, however, an American shortage of cokes and scrap. Before the war, this country had great surpluses of scrap which were shipped all over the world—Japan as well as Europe. It's no longer there.

Scrap collection drives may have to be re-instituted as in wartime. As shown by Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug's new report on national resources and aid to Europe, United States domestic steel consumption is now at peacetime peak. Steel production is running at 97 per cent of rated capacity, but still can't produce enough for home needs.

NEED ALL THREE

There is a first-class fight on whether the United States steel industry is big enough to take care of today's demands. The big steel makers insist it is, and they oppose expansion. One of their arguments is that there are not enough raw materials to feed increased steel-making capacity. Another is that any contemplated expansion would, itself, consume needed steel.

Europe apparently needs all three—raw materials, steel and steel-making capacity.

The Krug report indicates there is plenty of American plant capacity to manufacture all the freight cars, tractors and new machinery needed by Europe. If the steel is available, The Paris Report says Europe will need 103,000 freight cars in the next two years. European freight cars are only half the size of United States cars, so the need is translated into 51,500. It is no great order, considering that the American car-building industry turned out 80,000 cars in 1941 and has an annual capacity of 204,000 cars today.

But in the first half of 1947, only 54,000 cars were turned out and it has been impossible to get production up to 10,000 cars a month.

INDUSTRIAL NEEDS

Industrial equipment Europe needs includes electrical, petroleum and steel plants, agricultural and mining machinery. The Paris Report puts the needs at $4.5 billion over the next four years.

The Krug Report says American production reached a peak value of $18,000,000,000 in 1944, but is now running at a rate of only $11,000,000,000. The volume is a fourth less than indicated, because prices are now 28 per cent higher than in 1940.

Exports are now 10 per cent of total U.S. production of industrial equipment, or about $1,000,000,000 worth a year. Theoretically, it would take little increase in volume to meet European requirements. But again the things that Europe needs are the same things that American industry wants—increased electric generator and line capacity, more or bigger steel plants, greater petroleum refining capacity and more petroleum to run through it.

NO CINCH

Agricultural and mining machinery requirements for Europe can probably be taken care of without depriving American farms and mines already mechanized of needed equipment.

Looking at the whole picture, as Secretary of Commerce Averell Harriman's Committee of 19 will do when it meets again, it will be apparent that aid to Europe under the Marshall Plan will be no cinch. Smart management and the exercise of considerable government control over exports and allocations will be necessary to put it over.

A Congress not too sympathetic to the Marshall Plan concept can easily find plenty of reasons for sabotaging it. And American labor disturbances or crop failures of any magnitude during the next four years could easily wreck the whole business.

Global Survey

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst
PRINCESS ELIZABETH probably will be initiated into the historic Order of the Garter after her marriage next month, and this has resulted in the disclosure that exiled King Leopold of the Belgians, still a member of this highest order of British chivalry.

That's by way of being rather sensational news, since it is widely assumed to mean that Britain has absolved Leopold of any wrong-doing in his disastrous surrender of the Belgian army, and himself, to the invading Germans on that awful day of May 28, 1940. No person with the slightest stain on his reputation is permitted to remain a member of the Order of the Garter, whose membership of only 25 (outside the Royal Family) is hand-picked by the King.

This being so, it naturally is given to wonder whether the disclosure may presage the recall of Leopold to his throne. However, that is speculative.

Leopold's surrender was one of the great Allied tragedies, and came near to ending the war, with Hitler as conqueror of the continent. His action was branded as traitorous not only by many in Britain and France but among his own people. Although Leopold was a prisoner of the Germans, the Belgian parliament barred him from the country in July, 1945, and that order never has been revoked. Leopold still lives an exile in Switzerland, awaiting a call to come home. His younger brother, Prince Charles, has been acting as regent.

WAITED FOR EVIDENCE

Time has mellowed world opinion, and it long has been generally accepted that Leopold surrendered only to save little Belgium from being ground to pieces under the iron heels of the Nazi military. As a matter of course the question arose whether he should be expelled from the Immaculate Order of the Garter. However, that was for the King to decide in Britain, and he withheld his decision because he felt that the evidence wasn't all in.

Now Leopold is held to have lived up to the high traditions of the order, a decision which the King certainly couldn't have reached had the British people or his government not agreed.

The question now is whether Belgium wants Leopold back home again. The issue has become a political football, which complicates the situation. One can imagine his feelings as he awaits the outcome, for surely it must constantly be in his mind that he is the son of one of the allied world's great heroes—the late Albert, King of the Belgians, who for four long years in the First World War headed his army in holding a tiny corner of his kingdom against the invading forces of Kaiser Wilhelm.

REJUVENATED

Australian News Letter
A woman of 70 refused to give evidence in the Newcastle (N.S.W.) court against a man who had gashed her head with an axe-handle.

She said: "Since the blow I have felt years younger. I had been going to doctors for years with blood pressure. I could not walk far and could not sleep for more than two hours at a time. Now I can sleep the clock round, my blood pressure has gone and my appetite has improved. Yesterday I walked four miles into town and enjoyed it."

"The blow broke my glasses, but now I find that I can do without them. I reckon I have saved pounds in doctors' expenses."

LIBERALS DIFTER

Mr. Farquhar Oliver, leader of the Liberal Party in Ontario, has taken occasion to remind the Canadian people that there are other views held in his province on a reform of Dominion-provincial financial relations besides those expressed by Premier Drew. He is for full co-operation with the present Dominion government in reaching an early agreement.

FINICKY COSTS

Edmonton Bulletin

Canadians, like their neighbors, are fastidious about what they eat, a natural result of living in a land of plenty. We pay more attention to taste than nutritional value, and demand the best.

But this is not a time to be choosy. There are too many hungry people in the world for that. And the cost of being finicky puts a heavy strain on the pocketbook. Advice should therefore be welcome as to ways and means to economize food and at the same time keep down the cost of living.

Albino Gift From Down Under

From London Calling

WHITE KANGAROOS are extremely rare animals, even in Australia, but this was not the only reason why the kangaroo paddock at Regent's Park Zoological Gardens was such a popular spot one afternoon not long ago.

It was a perfect autumn afternoon, sunny and mild, and the crowds began to gather as soon as the BBC recording car parked outside the kangaroo paddock.

WHITE KANGAROO

The kangaroos themselves could not have cared less. There were about half a dozen of them, several big brown ones, and one beautiful white kangaroo—an albino, which, though he did not know it, was the star turn of the afternoon.

There had been a pair of the albinos, but the female had died. She had been hopping across the enclosure, and had come into collision with one of the big brown ones, and as albinos are so delicate and sensitive, she had not recovered from the accident.

Suddenly, from beyond the crowds of people, who were watching the engineers and cameramen, came a shout of "Good old Winnie!" Through the crowd, a big policeman cleared a path for Mr. Winston Churchill, who had come to the Zoo to receive the white kangaroo, which was a gift to him from the Stock Owners' Association of South Australia—a tribute to his great services during the war.

Mr. Churchill appeared behind the policeman, smiling, and giving his characteristic V-sign, but the expression on his face as he scanned the kangaroo paddock reminded one very much of a small boy eagerly asking "Where's my present?"

BLISSFULLY CLOSED

The keeper let him into the paddock and he made straight for the white kangaroo, "Digger," and began to make friends with it. Sir Charles McCann, Agent-General for South Australia, was there to make the formal presentation on behalf of the stock owners.

To Prove Strength

Ottawa Citizen

Obdurate are they who are where sensible dress reform is concerned, it is still to be seen whether men will show any greater determination than women in refusing to accept the latest piece of nonsense concocted for them by greedy, modern worshippers of the golden calf.

Mr. Churchill was obviously charmed with the snowy, little kangaroo. It was extraordinarily tame, and when Mr. Churchill handed it a carrot, it put up its front paws and took hold of his hand in the friendliest fashion and nibbled away with its eyes blissfully closed.

Mr. Churchill was so pleased that he went down on one knee, and began to offer it other dainties from the basket.

"The members of the Stock Owners' Association," said Sir Charles McCann, "have asked me to convey to you, sir, their proud and grateful appreciation of your magnificent war effort. They hope their gift will remind you of an outlying empire's great admiration of the services you have rendered to civilization."

COURAGE AND DOCILITY

Mr. Churchill managed to tear himself away from his new pet for a few minutes to come to the microphone.

"It is a beautiful little animal," he said. "Everyone can see that he possesses the qualities of courage and also of docility, at once valiant and reconciled to human beings. And, in addition, he is guided by ordinary commonsense in not refusing good and attractive victuals when they are placed before him—off the ration!"

Washington, B.C. Plan Road Talks

Works Minister E. C. Carson reported today that he had suggested Dec. 18 as a tentative date for a meeting in Seattle of B.C. and Washington state highway commission officials to discuss exchange of leases on strips of land for highway construction.

B.C. wants land to build the southern transprovincial highway on Washington State soil between Cascade and Patterson. U.S. wants a strip of land in the northwest corner of the province to link the Alaska towns of Haines and Skagway with the Alaska Highway.

The final deal will have to be negotiated by the federal governments of the two nations.

Immediate aim of the discussions is an arrangement for B.C. surveyors to make the route.

All's Well That Ends Well

Clifford Tommey, 12, of East Point, Ga., displays a model plane to two new friends after promising a juvenile court judge that he would "straighten up and fly right." Ben Epps, centre, owner of the plane Clifford "borrowed," and Glenn Miller, right, were so touched by his eagerness to fly that they persuaded the judge to suspend sentence and allow the boy to spend his afternoons at the airport, where they will see that he receives flying lessons.

Weekly parade of the 15th Field Ambulance will be held at 8 Tuesday night at the Bay Street Armouries. Dress will be roll-call order. Recruits are wanted and courses include industrial first aid, battle first aid, nursing assistant, hygiene and sanitation, vehicle driver and mechanic and small arms. Victoria Children's Paintings Shown At French Exhibition

Four Victoria children have had oil paintings accepted for inclusion in the French exhibition of children's work which is now hung at Luxembourg, A. W. Johns, art instructor at Central Junior High School, announced this morning.

Last summer, he said the French authorities requested submission of children's work from which to select the permanent exhibition of children's paintings. He sent 18 from the Saturday morning art class and from the Central Junior High art class.

Shirley Cave, Oak Bay High, who was then in Grade 8, had her original painting of two refugees accepted. Donald Michael, Saanich, had a modernistic painting of two fighters included. Both these youngsters attend the Saturday morning classes.

From Central Junior High, Frank Lewis, who is now going to Esquimalt High School, had a portrait included; and Morton Graham, now a student at Victoria High School, had a painting of Fort Nanaimo accepted. All paintings were done in oils, Mr. Johns said.

The French committee had more than 20,000 paintings submitted from every country in the world from which to make its selection.

Prison Educationist Meets B.C. Officers

Joseph McCulley, deputy commissioner of penitentiaries for the federal government and one of Canada's outstanding prison authorities, conferred Thursday with Eric Pepler, deputy attorney-general for B.C. and other authorities responsible for corrective institutions.

Mr. McCulley is making a tour of Canada to establish liaison between Dominion and provincial prison authorities.

Charged with the training of penitentiary officers and supervising education and vocational training in seven federal penitentiaries, Mr. McCulley, during the depression, was a member of the youth employment subcommittee of the National Employment Commission. The subcommittee was headed by Alan Chambers, former M.P. for Nanaimo.

Before joining the justice department Mr. McCulley was headmaster for 20 years of Pickering College, a position he took over at the age of 25 with a brilliant scholastic record.

VITAMINS
this Newer Way*

SCIENCE has established the fact that vitamins work most effectively in combination with certain other food elements.

That's why so many mothers are now giving their children Ovaltine. For Ovaltine contains—besides vitamins—nearly every food element needed for health, including those necessary for vitamin-effectiveness.

For example, Vitamins A and C need protein. Vitamin B₁ needs energy-food. Vitamin D requires Calcium and Phosphorus, and so on—and you get them all in each glass of Ovaltine made with milk!

So why not let your child enjoy delicious Ovaltine with her meals and get vitamins and minerals needed for robust health.

New Road Coming Into Existence

Here the old and the new meet. The concrete structure in the centre of the photograph is the sub-structure for a new bridge on the Parksville-Alberni Highway being reconstructed for the provincial works department. The gap in the trees beyond shows where the road will go. The old narrow highway is shown winding over the new route.

A broad, smooth highway like this, only hard-surfaced, is what Victorians may expect to ride on when they drive between Parksville and Cameron Lake next summer. Part of the same project as that shown in the above photograph, this section of the highway is complete except for surfacing.

Birchall, 'Saviour Of Ceylon', To Testify At Trials Of Japanese

OTTAWA (CP)—Wing Commander L. J. Birchall, the man called the "Saviour of Ceylon" for a wartime radio warning of the approach of a Japanese fleet on that strategic island, is going to Japan to be heard in the war crimes trials of Japanese army personnel at whose hands he and hundreds of prisoners suffered during the war.

In making the announcement today, Air Force headquarters said the Ottawa and St. Catharines, Ont., officer is being relieved by Group Capt. H. M. Carscallen as director of personnel administration and will leave for Japan shortly.

PRISONER 3½ YEARS

He will testify against Japanese officials who were in charge of camps in which he was held by the Japanese during the 3½ years he was a prisoner. Among those against whom he will testify in the U.S. trials for mistreatment of Allied prisoners of war is a Lieut. Hayashi, commandant of the Yokohama Stadium Camp, where the wing commander spent a year, and a Sgt. Usjidoa, a medical sergeant at the same camp.

Testimony taken by affidavit has already been given against these two by Wing Cmdr. Birchall, the material having been taken from the diary he secretly kept while a prisoner of war of the Japanese.

Wing Cmdr. Birchall was a squadron leader when he joined No. 413 Squadron at Ceylon in 1942. A day or two after his arrival he spotted the approaching Japanese fleet while on reconnaissance and only had time to send a hasty wireless report before being shot down. His aircraft was not heard from again and for a time he was believed dead.

QUICK DEFENCE

But his quick radio report was enough to allow preparations for the defence of Ceylon and when the Japanese carrier aircraft struck they were repulsed with heavy losses. The wing commander's report, giving the position of the enemy fleet, won him an immediate Distinguished Flying Cross.

Picked up by the Japanese, he was sent to a prisoner-of-war camp in Japan and his conduct there won him the O.B.E. on his release.

With Wing Cmdr. Birchall during his first 2½ years as a prisoner was F.O. G. C. Onyette of Huntsville, Ont., who was an observer aboard Birchall's plane. F.O. Onyette, now a member of the regular R.C.A.F., is stationed at Edmonton.

Slugged Druggist Being 'Protected'

Members of the Victoria Rotary Club are taking no chances that their fellow clubman, William Clark, the druggist who was robbed and slugged when he was held up in his dispensary last week, will encounter any further violence.

At Thursday's luncheon meeting of the club, for instance, Mr. Clark did not appear until all other members had taken their places. When he did enter the meeting room he was escorted by two "armed" escorts. At the conclusion of the meeting, proper precaution was again taken—Mr. Clark was escorted from the room before anyone else was allowed to move.

Jeffrey Arnott, club president, gave his assurance to all present that "everything is being done to protect our Bill."

Farmerette Social A Huge Success

Hallowe'en motifs decorating the lower ballroom at the Crystal Garden, with the gingham and overalls of farmers and farmerettes, made a colorful scene for the Farmerette's Box Social, sponsored by the Solarium Junior League, Thursday evening.

A large crowd danced to the music of Len Acres' orchestra, with farmerettes acting as escorts for their beaux and even bringing box lunches for two which were served at the intermission, in true box social fashion.

Miss Elsie Foster was general convener, assisted by Mrs. Fay Eldridge, Mrs. F. Dunn and Miss Roberta Ray.

Miss Wynn Shaw's school of dancing entertained with several numbers during the evening.

The saxophone is named after its inventor, Adolph Sax.

Rev. and Mrs. George H. Hamilton, David and Louise, have left for Vancouver, where Rev. Hamilton will be minister of St. Giles United Church. They will live at 139 West 21st Avenue.

Mrs. G. V. Smith, 3357 Linwood Avenue, was hostess Wednesday evening at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Dorothy Rose McLean, who is to be married shortly. Guests were Mesdames W. E. McLean, A. Muir, D. J. Smith, J. Hyde, W. Trowsdale, J. Muir, Misses Hilda Gregg, Vina Gerber and Louise Malone.

Mrs. J. D. Hunter, president, with members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Royal Jubilee Hospital, were hostesses this afternoon in the Nurses' Home at the tea hour, in honor of lady delegates to the B.C. Hospital convention. Mrs. Hunter and Miss Lena Mitchell, supervisor at the hospital, received the guests, and Miss Mitchell presided at the tea table.

Two Invitations Received In Canada

As far as is known, Hon. Eric W. Hamber, LL.D., K. St. J., and Mrs. Hamber are the only Canadians, except Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who have been invited to the ceremony of the marriage of Her Royal Highness the Princess Elizabeth with Lieut. Philip Mountbatten, Royal Navy, on Nov. 20 in Westminster Abbey.

Hon. and Mrs. Hamber were host and hostess to King George VI and Queen Elizabeth when Their Majesties spent two days in Victoria in 1939.

Their Majesties honored only four residences in North America with their overnight presence on the royal tour. These were Rideau Hall, Ottawa; the White House in Washington, and Hyde Park Manor House in New York State, country seat of the Roosevelt family, and Cary Castle, B.C.'s Government House.

The Hammers, who also attended the coronation of King George and Queen Elizabeth in 1937, plan to sail from New York for the wedding of the Princess, on the liner Queen Mary on Nov. 12. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Mae Rice of Vancouver, who has been Mrs. Hamber's personal secretary since she was chaperone at Government House.

THE FAMILY GENIUS

One of the problems with which many families are afflicted is having a self-elected genius in their midst. Sometimes it is a husband who justifies his philandering by his conviction that he is a great lover who couldn't possibly settle down to being faithful to one wife. Sometimes it is a wife who believes she has a grand opera voice and who spends her life in an orgy of self-pity because she isn't standing 'em up at the Metropolitan instead of singing the baby to sleep.

Sometimes it is a homely girl with no personality and few brains, who grow sour and sharp-tongued because she has to stand behind a counter instead of being a million-dollar star in the movies. And often and often it is a man who is still forcing his mother to support him after he is 40 years old because he is so temperamental he has never found any work that just fitted his talents.

Now these wishful thinkers, who really believe they could set the world on fire if they had the opportunity, are not only a burden on their families and pests in their homes, but they are bitterly unhappy themselves. Nothing is more pitiful than the spectacle of those who delude themselves into believing that they have the gift that God never gave them.

ARTISTIC PHONIES

And this tragedy happens so often: Men and women who think themselves great artists spending their lives painting pictures that nobody will buy. Families literally starving themselves to death to give a girl who has only a squeaky little parlor voice expensive music lessons because she has made them believe that she will be a prima donna who will repay them a thousand fold. And, oh, the multitudes of those who slave over typewriters in the fond belief that they are Kiplings.

Just how to bring these self-inflated pink balloons down to earth has been a difficult task and a dangerous one, for puncturing anyone's ego is a painful and thankless job. But, after all, it can be done, and the surest way to do it is to throw the near-genius out on their own and let them try out their talent.

This is a double-action remedy that works both ways, for if they really have the ability they think they have, good. No one would willingly put out a fire on an altar. But if they are self-deceived, it is also good if they find out the truth in time to do something worthwhile.

Engagements

The engagement is announced of Sydney Edgar Yates, second youngest son of Mrs. Annie Yates and the late Geoffrey Yates, 1024 Empress Avenue, Victoria, B.C., to Miss Elizabeth Faulkner Rae, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rae of Canoe, B.C. The wedding to take place on January 21, 1948.

Klondike Night—After a business meeting of the Victoria Chapter, Women of the Moose, last week, with Senior Regent Violet Warren in the chair, a Klondike Night was held, with several of the members wearing old-time costumes. A small birthday gift was presented to Junior Regent Annie Bird.

Armored Force To Meet Invaders Of Embattled Kashmir

NEW DELHI (Reuter)—Indian army sappers and engineers were working to build a mountain road from the east Punjab into Jammu, southernmost district of Kashmir, along which armored forces were already reported moving to aid in fighting off raiding tribesmen.

The raiders, who have broken out of the mountain passes into the valley of Kashmir, were reported to have sent a column south over a precipitous mountain pass to attack Gulmarg, famous Kashmir mountain beauty spot, where they burned a palace belonging to Sir Hari Singh, the Maharajah.

Earlier they had captured Baramulla, town of 13,000 at the mouth of the gorge opening into the 60-mile-wide valley in which Srinagar, the capital, stands.

The tribesmen, reported to outnumber Indian troops by five to one, and to be better equipped, were understood to have reached Pattan, a village less than 20 miles west of Srinagar.

Royal Indian Air Force fighter planes have "strafed" the tribesmen in support of the defending Indian army troops, who are believed to be holding a ridge east of Pattan.

The Indian government hoped to have 2,000 troops in Kashmir by tonight, flown in by an improvised taxi service from Delhi to the mountain airfield at Srinagar.

Latest reports in New Delhi on the battle situation were conflicting. Some said spearheads of the columns of tribesmen had reached within 10 miles of Srinagar, while others were that Indian army troops, who, although outnumbered have the advantage of air support, were advancing.

Montrealer Named Consul In Chicago

D. W. Dier, formerly of Vancouver, and now a third secretary in the department, has been appointed vice-consul.

Increased Exports To U.S. First Aim In Balancing Dollar

MONTREAL (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said Thursday night that "something must be done to overcome" difficulties arising out of Canada's shortage of U.S. dollars, but the immediate objective was to increase exports to the republic.

In a speech to the Canadian Exporters' Association, Mr. Abbott said:

"Our immediate objectives as exporters, can, I think, be clearly stated.

"1. We must seek to narrow the gap in our trading accounts with dollar countries by exporting more goods to those countries.

"2. We must seek to diversify our exports to the dollar countries by combining a greater proportion of processed and manufactured goods. In more concrete terms, because the United States has been and will remain a market for our goods which exceeds all others, these objectives can be restated more positively: 'Sell more goods, including processed and manufactured goods, in the U.S.A. markets.'

The task of increasing exports was not easy, he said. There were obstacles in the way, mainly in the terms of the tariff structure of the countries to which Canada exported.

"Ways and means must be found to overcome these difficulties," said Mr. Abbott. "The present Canadian dollar problem is as much a danger to the stability of the U.S. economy as it is to ours. It is in the interest of both countries that measures to facilitate the further development of exports, including manufactured goods, be adopted, particularly where the raw material essential for such production is indigenous to our country and can be processed here to the mutual advantage of all concerned.

"I assure you no effort will be spared on the part of the government to work our mutually advantageous accords to encourage and facilitate this type of development which must come."

To Honor Retiring B.C. Police Chief

Mr. Parsons will assume the duties of administrator of the Queen Alexandra Solarium immediately following his retirement from the B.C. police.

Hughes' Huge Plane To Get Water Test

LOS ANGELES (CP)—Howard Hughes announced Thursday that his 200-ton flying boat—subject of a Congressional inquiry reopening Monday—will leave its dock for the first time for water tests Saturday.

The multi-millionaire plane maker, oil operator and movie producer declined any statement beyond the announcement that tractors and tugs will haul the behemoth, with its 320-foot wingspread, out for the first time Saturday and that on Sunday he will cruise around the harbor on tests.

Why "BILL 39" IS LABOR'S BILL OF RIGHTS

The right to strike... after responsibility to the public has been discharged and after a secret ballot: That is what British Columbia's labor legislation (Bill 39) guarantees to labor.

But it guarantees more than the basic right to strike.

It provides that before a strike can legally be called, there must be in the interest of all concerned:

- Negotiation in good faith between employer and employees' representatives: (An employer who does not bargain in good faith can be charged in court and fined).
- A period of conciliation with representatives of the Department of Labor attempting to reconcile the difference:
- A conciliation board acting as mediator; and, if no settlement is reached
- A government-supervised secret ballot of employees affected to determine whether or not they want to take strike action.

THE ONLY THING NEW IN THIS PROCEDURE IS THE SUPERVISED SECRET BALLOT ON STRIKE ACTION.

It is a reform designed to free labor from the possibility of pressure and intimidation that can exist where there is open, show-of-hands balloting, often at small, unrepresentative meetings where a minority could impose its wishes on the rank and file.

It brings the democratic secret ballot to employees faced with a critical decision.

WHY SHOULD THE SECRET BALLOT BE OPPOSED?

Doukhobor Witness Admits He, Other 'Sons', Set Fires

SOUTH SLOCAN, B.C. (CP)—Confession of a small, gaunt-faced 36-year-old Krestova, B.C. farmer, Peter Switlitschoff, a member of the Sons of Freedom, radical Doukhobor sect, electrified a crowd of more than 400 persons here Thursday when he openly admitted that he, and his group, were responsible for terrorist attacks.

He stated that, in his opinion, such tactics must cease even as a measure "to awaken our brethren."

His statement was made at Thursday's session of the royal commission probe into the 40-year-old Doukhobor problem which has resulted in burnings and bombings.

'IDOL WORSHIP'

Switlitschoff described how he and "others of us elders" bombed the tomb of Peter (the Lordly) Verigin, original leader of the Doukhobors, because "it showed that idol worship had returned to us. People coming to the tomb kneel and worship, but do not recognize the living God," he said.

The farmer testified that Michael Verigin, now leader of the Doukhobor sect at Hilliers, Vancouver Island, had been the power behind the factional strife which existed between the two factors.

Ominous rumblings broke out among the 400 picturesquely garbed Doukhobors present when he stated "Michael Verigin gave us a full spirit to go ahead" with the burnings.

Switlitschoff told of bombings and burnings in which he had taken part, refusing protection under the British Columbia or Canada Evidence Acts.

"I will take the consequence of my words," he said through an interpreter, "with only the protection of God Almighty."

"We have burned the English schools because we have there found nationalism, militarism and egotism."

At another point he said: "I think now that arson and blowing up are acts of force, and the reason for the split or differences between the Sons of Freedom and the Orthodox-Doukhobors."

"We are not perfect," he said, "but we are nearing perfection."

WINCH VISITS INQUIRY

Harold Winch, provincial leader of the C.C.F. and Leader of the Opposition in the British Columbia Legislature, today paid a surprise visit to the commission inquiry.

He arrived here unannounced late Thursday after completing a speaking tour throughout the Kootenay Valley "to get a first-hand picture" of the internecine strife which has resulted in burnings and bombings.

The commission, under Judge H. J. Sullivan, sitting as a commission, is preparing a brief setting out recommendations for a solution to the strife, which, Mr. Winch said "will undoubtedly come before the next session of the Legislature." He said he planned to stay in the district only a few days.

'Peace River Jim' Still Believes In Old Statement

J. K. Cornwall, who is known to many Victorians as Peace River Jim, told the Victoria branch of the B.C. Historical Association Wednesday night that he had every hope that the P.G.E. would be extended into the Peace River country during his lifetime—thus fulfilling an opinion he had expressed years ago.

A life-long promoter of the Peace River country, Mr. Cornwall, who last Wednesday celebrated his 76th birthday, recalled that he had told Sir Richard McBride, then Premier of B.C., years ago, that he believed the now provincially-owned P.G.E. railway would be extended into the Peace River country during his lifetime.

While the railroad has not yet been extended, negotiations have been opened between the provincial and Dominion governments and the two national railways for a partnership to proceed with the extension. Premier John Hart has reported that new overtures have been made to him by interests in the United States.

Mr. Cornwall's campaign to have the railway extended into the Peace River country, to provide a Pacific outlet for grain grown there, dates back at least 40 years. At that time in an address entitled "British Columbia's Opportunity" to the Vancouver Board of Trade he advocated the extending of the railway northward and eastward.

Mr. Cornwall mentioned some of the lore of the north country which he has known for years.

He told how years ago he had traveled in the North West Territories. Last year he made a similar trip. To the meeting he contrasted past and present modes of northern travel.

He mentioned "Twelve-Foot Davis," an American who earned that nickname by winning claim for 12 feet of property between two very rich mining claims in the Cariboo.

Mr. Cornwall also recalled that years ago he had helped round up buffalo for the Dominion government's buffalo reserve at Wainwright, Alta.

Mr. Cornwall was introduced by Mrs. A. H. Cree, who presided. G. H. Blanchet and B. A. McKelvie thanked the speaker.

City Toastmasters Mark Anniversary

Members of Victoria's three toastmaster clubs, Victoria No. 38, Victoria Union No. 3331, and Thunderbird No. 396, met Thursday evening to celebrate the 23rd anniversary of the founding of the first toastmaster club.

The history of the toastmaster movement and the development from one small club to the international organization, which exists today was reviewed by Ed Whyte, district governor for the Pacific northwest district of Toastmaster International.

Mr. Whyte told the joint meeting that Ralph Smedley organized the first toastmaster group in California Oct. 22, 1924, to provide training in speech and leadership for community-minded men. "The club proved to be so successful that other clubs were soon formed."

In October, 1930, toastmaster clubs were in operation all over the continent and the clubs were federated to become Toastmaster International. Today, toastmaster clubs are in existence all over the world.

All clubs operate on a non-commercial, non-profit basis, Mr. Whyte said. The main purpose is to emphasize the importance of the right of free speech and to train men to exercise this right effectively.

Following Mr. Whyte's address, speakers from the three clubs addressed the meeting on topics of their own choosing. Taking part were W. Stursberg, Percy Raymond, G. Hawkins, B. Armstrong and D. McGugan.

Fined For Ignoring Fire Engine Siren

A $10 fine was imposed against Harry Brown, 1177 Lyall Street, when he pleaded guilty in Sannich police court Thursday to a charge of not stopping his car on the approach of a fire engine en route to an alarm call Oct. 23. Cpl. Jack Hamilton told the court he was following the fire engine and that accused, proceeding in the opposite direction, had failed to halt in spite of the fact the driver of the engine was sounding his siren, had red lights flashing and was playing a searchlight above the other car as a warning.

Interhigh Cagers Open Play

Keen competition marked one of two opening games in the senior division of the Interhigh Basketball League at the Victoria High gym yesterday afternoon. Action above shows the boys battling for a ball during the engagement between Vic High I and II teams, won by the latter 27 to 24. Players are: Greaves (9), Geisser (13), and Elson (11) of the II team and Davidson (6) of the I squad.

Adanacs Willing To Pay Own Expenses To Olympic Games

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Official announcements from London and Toronto to the contrary or not, New Westminster Adanacs, 1947 Canadian lacrosse champions, stoutly were maintaining today that they would go to London to play an exhibition game against a British team at the 1948 Olympics.

A Canadian team originally had been scheduled to go, but the trip was canceled at the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association in Vancouver on the grounds that the cost would be prohibitive.

The moguls estimated it would cost $18,000 for the trip—twice the amount in their treasury. That, plus the fact that only one exhibition game was to be played made them decide that the trip wasn't worth the money.

However, Adanacs had other ideas. A few days later after the C.L.A. meetings ended, New Westminster coach Max McDonald told association president Lyle Barr that the A's would travel with or without the help of the Canadian body and asked Barr to transmit that information to the British Olympic Committee.

FAILED TO ACT. Barr said last night that he had relayed the information to Gene Dopp, secretary-treasurer of the C.L.A., and asked him to pass it along to the British officials.

Coach McDonald explained that his team would make the trip by means of a public subscription here if necessary. The famed New Westminster Salmonbellies were sent to the 1928 Olympics in Amsterdam by donations of citizens of this lacrosse-loving city.

By way of defraying expenses, the A's plan to play a few games on their way across Canada and will possibly try to line up other exhibition tilts when they reach England.

Barr intimated that if the New Westminster team went ahead with their plans, and it seems as if they will, it is possible the C.L.A. will be able to help on the finances to some extent.

N.H.L. President Tells How Clubs Tie Up Players

MONTREAL (CP)—If Chicago Black Hawks, casting about desperately for defence strength, want to acquire a minor leaguer owned by a National Hockey League club, there's just one way it can be done—by direct deal with the parent club.

And just to complicate things, president Bill Tobin of the Hawks, waving a fistful of large-denomination bills, has probably found out by now that you can't put skates on legal tender.

There is no N.H.L. regulation by which its clubs' players may be priced loose except by purchase or trade, president Clarence Campbell said today, and N.H.L.-owned players may remain on loan indefinitely in the minors until the parent club recalls them or disposes of them otherwise.

Each N.H.L. club is allowed to place 16 players out on loan to minor clubs, said Campbell. These 16 are among the 40 that may be signed. The 40 include also the regular playing roster, players optioned and those not yet brought up from amateur ranks.

Players on loan—the maximum of 16 would be unusual—remain on the reserve list of the parent club and are not subject to waiver or draft.

NO DRAFT

There is no draft provision so far as the American Hockey League is concerned, and the A.H.L. is fertile farm territory for the N.H.L.

A draft regulation in the United States Hockey League allows N.H.L. clubs to draft one player from each U.S.H.L. club. The draft drawing is late in the season at $10,000 a player. Also, N.H.L. clubs may transfer players, with option to repurchase, and call them back before the draft.

When an N.H.L. club sends out a player on loan, no waiver is required. If a player is transferred on option or otherwise, waivers are first asked from other N.H.L. clubs. The waiver price is $7,500.

LOS ANGELES WINS SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Los Angeles Monarchs put on the power in the final period to defeat San Diego's Skyhawks 4 to 2 in a Pacific Coast League hockey game Thursday.

Officials, somewhere along the line signals got crossed and the Olympic Committee received no word, Barr, however, said he would take immediate action.

Coach McDonald explained that his team would make the trip by means of a public subscription here if necessary. The famed New Westminster Salmonbellies were sent to the 1928 Olympics in Amsterdam by donations of citizens of this lacrosse-loving city.

By way of defraying expenses, the A's plan to play a few games on their way across Canada and will possibly try to line up other exhibition tilts when they reach England.

Barr intimated that if the New Westminster team went ahead with their plans, and it seems as if they will, it is possible the C.L.A. will be able to help on the finances to some extent.

Featured by a double-header at Victoria High School gym, interhigh senior basketballers opened their season yesterday with four games. Victoria High School, entering four squads in this year's edition, again showed that they will be tough to reckon with come championship time, as all but one of the city squads rapped up a victory, and the one suffering defeat, went down at the hands of schoolmates.

Winnipeg-Calgary Open Western Grid Playoffs

They start to play for keeps tomorrow in the Western Canada Football Union where Calgary Stampede and Winnipeg Blue Bombers start a two-game playoff to decide which will represent the west in the big east-west classic at Toronto Nov. 29.

The six-game week-end program in the east winds up the Ontario Rugby Football Union schedule, starts a final struggle for first place in the final Big Four standings and gives Queen's University another chance at that seemingly hopeless task of hobbling the rambunctious Western Mustangs.

The opening game of the home-and-home total-point series in the west is scheduled for Winnipeg and the teams go back to Calgary for the deciding encounter Nov. 8.

The Big Four battle is between Ottawa Rough Riders and Toronto Argonauts who will settle the Big Four leadership in games in Toronto tomorrow and Ottawa Nov. 8 in a preview of their two-game playoff for the union title, set for Nov. 11 and 15.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

OFFICIALS OF THE Victoria Minor Hockey Association, who finally had to give up the ghost this season, after carrying on for three years under the terrific handicap of no home ice, can at least glean some satisfaction in that several of the young players they helped develop have earned tryouts this winter with the Nanaimo senior B club. One of them, Conny McBeth, has grabbed off a regular centre-ice berth and it is quite possible one or two of the other boys will make the line-up of the up-land club. Others who have attended workouts at the Nanaimo arena include Les Oberg, Rossiter, Sid Quickfall and Reid.

IN PASSING along the information Ivan Temple, enthusiastic worker for minor hockey in this city, was quite pleased to be bemoaned the fact that these players had to go as far as to play hockey. "It is sure unfortunate that our arena is not ready as we could have come up with a good intermediate or senior B club this season," he said. "Much more delay in getting a local sheet of ice will mean we will have to just about start all over again and develop another fresh crop of kids. Keep youngsters off ice for two years and their skating suffers to a point where it takes them ages to regain their form."

THROWING OF a "light" and "heavy" ball in baseball is a well-known fact but now I read about the tossing of a "light" sphere in Canadian football. In a recent address Joe Krol, Canada's most famous backfield star and forward passing wizard as a member of the Canadian champion-Toronto Argos, said that one of the fundamental secrets of successful passing was to throw a "light" ball that the receiver found easy to catch.

KROL CLAIMED that most passers, especially in high school and age limit football, throw a heavy ball—that is hard to hold. Krol, probably the greatest Canadian passer of all time, said the secret of throwing a light, easy to catch pass was to keep the nose of the ball up a little. He said that if the nose is down a little during the flight of the ball, it makes the ball heavy as it is boring into the air and down toward the ground. With the nose up a little the ball rides the air waves buoyantly and is therefore light and easy to handle.

Vic High Ruggers In Smashing Victory

Victoria High Reds, currently rated as the strongest squad in the interhigh junior rugby setup, scored another smashing victory yesterday when they snowed Oak Bay Whites under a 16 to 0 count.

Barry Caviness started the ball rolling for Reds at the 10-minute mark, but Whites played a strong defensive game the rest of the half, holding Vic High scoreless.

Reds' powerful machine began to roll at the 15-minute mark of the second half, Buzz Jacklin scoring the try. Bill Bamford split the uprights for the extra points, leaving Reds ahead, 8 to 0. Following a line-out, Gordon Ingile went over Bays' line for a try, and Bamford again converted, leaving little doubt in the affair. Shortly before time, Ken Courtenay scored Vic High's final points.

Chicago Draws Blame For Hockey Problem

An eye-dropper, by all indications, is one of those gadgets rival National Hockey League clubs keep handy to dole out sympathy to Chicago Black Hawks.

As president Bill Tobin of Hawks moaned low today over the sorry showing of his charges, beaten in all five starts, there was no promise of relief from other clubs in the circuit. In fact, one opposition leader maintains that Hawks have only themselves to blame for their plight.

General manager Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens said yesterday Canadiens had been ready during the training season to consider trading defencemen Frankie Eddolls and Hal Laycoe to Hawks. Selke added that Hawks simply let matters ride until it became obvious from their early-season play they'd have to take some steps to bolster their ranks.

"The blame, if any, must lie on Chicago's own doorstep," said Selke, in discussing Chicago's troubles. "Anyway, hockey's rivalry is best maintained when each team looks strictly after its own strength."

Hawks also have made overtures to Toronto Maple Leafs. Tobin and managing director Conny Smythe of Leafs talked things over last week-end and the upshot of their discussions was that Smythe offered Hawks five players in exchange for Max Bentley. At any rate, the whole matter of a five-for-one trade between the two clubs appears to have died out.

New York Rangers, like the Hawks, also have been involved in player troubles. Rangers, able to boast of only one victory in five starts, have tried mightily to lure Roy Conacher away from retirement but the 31-year-old winger apparently intends to stick by his decision to quit hockey.

Manager Frank Boucher made a special trip by air to Toronto to talk things over with Conacher, who scored 30 goals last season for Detroit Red Wings. But after the gab-fest, Boucher admitted that Conacher was sticking by his retirement guns.

Sports Fans Honor Leo Nicholson

VANCOUVER (CP)—Hundreds of Vancouver sportsmen paid final tribute Thursday to Leo Nicholson, dean of western Canadian sport announcers, who died Tuesday after a long illness, in one of the largest funerals ever accorded a city sport figure.

Friends, acquaintances and people who knew him only through the medium of the air waves filed past his flower-covered coffin, upon which a pair of lacrosse sticks were laid, symbolizing the game he helped to make famous.

Rev. E. D. Braden, who officiated at the brief service, paid tribute to Leo saying that "when the time comes to list the great men of western Canada sport, Leo Nicholson's name will be headlined."

PRAIRIE HOCKEY LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—Lethbridge Maple Leafs edged out Edmonton Flyers of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League 3 to 2 here Friday night in a game whose second period produced everything—but goals and resulted in major penalties to Gil Nordla, newcomer to the Leafs' line-up, and Alex Pringle for mixing it.

The result puts Leafs into a four-point tie with Flyers for third place in league standing.

The minor league totals far exceeded the previous high turnstile mark of 32,704,315 established last year.

O'Connor May Get Support Of Owners In Suspension

CHICAGO (AP)—President Will Harridge of the American League Thursday projected his organization into the controversy raging between A. B. Chandler, commissioner of baseball, the Chicago White Sox and Leslie O'Connor, suspended general manager of the Sox.

Harridge called a meeting of league club owners in Cleveland today to "consider" the action taken against the White Sox and O'Connor.

Harridge revealed that Chandler had requested the removal of O'Connor from baseball's executive council presumably because Chandler was of the opinion that since O'Connor remains under suspension he could not serve.

Other members of the council are Chandler, Warren Giles, general manager of the Cincinnati club, and the presidents of the American and National Leagues, Harridge and Ford Frick.

O'Connor will attend the meeting to explain his side of the controversy and to exhibit correspondence that passed between himself and Chandler over the signing of an obscure 17-year-old Chicago High School Boy pitcher, George Zoeterman.

REFUSED TO PAY

The signing resulted in a $500 fine and later suspension of O'Connor and the White Sox because of O'Connor's refusal to remit on the plea that he had not violated any rule.

Zoeterman, promising left-hand pitcher, signed to a 1948 contract after he had served as a batting practice pitcher with the White Sox on their last eastern trip. Zoeterman pitched four no-hit games in the last two years.

Baseball rules specially provide that students in high schools belonging to the National Federation of High School Athletic Associations may not be signed until after graduating, or until after their class has graduated. Zoeterman will not graduate until January.

In declining to pay the fine, O'Connor pointed out that Chicago Christian, a private school which Zoeterman attends, does not belong to the national federation.

Lesnevich Seeks 4th Straight Win Over Mauriello

NEW YORK (AP)—Celebrating in a fashion, the 10th anniversary of Mike Jacobs' coronation as czar of the boxing industry, light-heavyweight champion Gus Lesnevich will attempt to crown bulular Tam Mauriello for the fourth straight time tonight at Madison Square Garden.

It was just a decade ago this week that Jacobs, the former ticket broker and long-time right bower of the famous Tex Rickard, took over boxing in the Garden and, with the aid of a young negro heavyweight named Joe Louis, established a virtual monopoly in the fight racket.

It is not expected that Mike will be on hand for the anniversary number. For nearly a year he has been a sick man, and only recently has been able to leave his Rumson, N.J., estate for an occasional brief visit to his office in the Garden.

The fight fraternity has not been at all clear on why Mike's staff matches Lesnevich and Mauriello for the fourth time. Gus, the wily 32-year-old ex-sailor, tanned his much younger and heavier rival in each of their three previous meetings, and the experts think he might go on doing it indefinitely.

It is down for 10 rounds. Lesnevich expects to scale around 170 pounds, and Mauriello a few notches above 200.

Sooke Cagers Defeat City Squads

Playing in exhibition games at the Sooke Community Hall last night, a pair of local squads were trounced by the home teams. In the intermediate B boys division, the Sooke quintette pinned a 28 to 13 decision over First United of Victoria, while a senior B affair saw Sooke blast the K.V. entry, 51 to 29.

First league game in the Saanich and suburban loop will be played Monday at the Sooke Community Hall, bringing together Langford-Colwood and Sooke, senior B men's squads.

Former Mainland Stars Show With Local Ruggers

Canadian Scottish and Victoria College senior rugby squads, primed for tomorrow's encounter at Macdonald Park, have imported a pair of Vancouver stars for the opening league game. An intermediate game, bringing together Oak Bay Wanderers and Victoria College, is billed for the lower pitch. Both start at 2.30.

George Biddle, last year with the U.B.C. squad which went through the season without a defeat, will be playing under the colors of the Scottish fifteen tomorrow, opening at stand-off half. Jack Gibbs, coach of the College squad, has also added a Vancouverite to his squad in the person of Geoff d'Easum, former Vancouver Rep and B.C. All-Star. d'Easum will play scrum-half.

LINE-UPS LISTED

Campbell Forbes, coach of the Scottish, lists Bill Pinkard, Harry Olsen, Spike Dalziel and George Knight on the three-quarter line, and forwards include A. Buckle, Gordon Holland, Ed Flanagan, Cliff Denham, Cyril Olsen, Art Jukes, Phil Salmon, D. MacKay, A. Beck and R. Petkovich. Full-back and scrum-half positions have not been decided yet.

Many former high school stars form the nucleus of the college squad. Alan Wallis, Don Smyth, Reg Lott and Russ Isaac, ex-Vic High players; Macgregor Macintosh, formerly with Oak Bay High; Ed Estlin, playing on last year's college entry; Robin Harrison, Pete Barram and Pete Byrne-Jones, ex-University School performers; and Bob Dunlop, Des O'Halloran, and John Murray, former Brentwood players. Roger Ross and Frank Willis will be playing the game for the first time.

Portland Beavers Stay Razing Order

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast Baseball League appealed formally Thursday to save their ball park from the wrecking axe.

The appeal went to city commissioner Kenneth L. Cooper, who earlier had ordered the park demolished within 30 days as a fire hazard.

It automatically stays the wrecking order.

The Beaver baseball management asked a hearing before the entire city council. Cooper said he would recommend Nov. 19 for the hearings.

Association To Petition Govt. Demanding Hospitalization Law

Legislation to provide full necessary hospitalization for all residents of the province will be sought in a petition to the provincial government, approved by the British Columbia Hospitals Association, at their 30th annual convention, which concluded this afternoon in Empress Hotel.

The resolution called for the cost of the plan to be assessed as equitably as possible on every individual resident.

A full inquiry into the present shortage of nurses with the provincial government asked to enlarge schools of nursing and subsidize them was sought in another resolution approved by the convention.

A resolution which sought an amendment to the Registered Nurses' Act of B.C., to allow the entrance of girls into nursing training schools, at the age of 18 instead of 19, was discussed at length and referred to the committee on resolutions for redrafting.

Some delegates felt the resolution as worded would mean the association asking that an act applying to another group be changed. The recommendation was made that the Registered Nurses' Association be contacted on the matter.

Lengthy discussion was precipitated on the question of trained nurses giving intravenous therapy. Sister Mary Clare of St. Joseph's Hospital asked that the association take action to clarify the legality of a nurse giving intravenous therapy.

It was stated by some delegates that during the war years the doctors sponsored nurses giving intravenous therapy. A committee of four, including Sister Mary Clare, was appointed to study the question.

The association will ask the provincial government to make some pecuniary recompense to hospitals suffering from the change in the Hospital Act which eliminated village municipal per capita payments. A resolution to that effect was approved.

A resolution asking that a home for the aged and incurable be established in the interior and that the government be advised to consider taking over the old Vernon Military Hospital for this purpose, was approved.

Another resolution approved asked the Department of Indian Affairs to pay the prevailing hospital rates to hospitals in B.C.

Typhoon Kills 6 In Philippines

MANILA (AP)—A typhoon which swept across the central Philippines, leaving six dead and heavy damage in its wake, bypassed Manila to the south today and headed toward the China sea.

The Philippine weather bureau placed the typhoon 30 miles south of Manila and said it was moving west-northwest. Typhoon signal No. 10, indicating imminent danger, remained hoisted in Manila, however.

The lashing gale heavily damaged two cities, sank one ship and beached three others.

Reports from Iloilo, Panay Island, said five persons were drowned when the motor launch Alfonso II sank near the Gigantes Islands, off the eastern coast of the island, Thursday.

The first death caused by the typhoon was reported from Mindanao, where a woman passenger drowned in the sinking of the 270-ton Philippines freighter FS277. The other passengers and the crew of 26 were rescued as the ship went down in Butuan Bay.

Masbate, city of 24,000 population 230 miles southeast of Manila, sent a radio message for help, saying the city was badly damaged. The message did not include any mention of casualties. Tacloban, city of 10,000 on Leyte Island 340 miles southeast of Manila, reported houses unroofed, communication lines down, and the business district flooded.

Irrigation Projects Investigated Here

A program for the development of irrigation projects, mainly in the interior of province, is being mapped out today during discussions and investigations of officials of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Assistance Act and the provincial government.

P.F.R.A. engineers are going over projects on which investigations have been made by the province to estimate costs on those projects sufficiently far advanced. The program will then be forwarded to Ottawa where it is expected it will eventually come before the Parliament.

The provincial government is hopeful that the federal government, which has already appropriated $200,000 during two years for reclamation and irrigation projects to be undertaken under the P.F.R.A. in B.C., will make larger appropriations next year and that the appropriations later may rise to as high as $1,000,000 annually.

Bulk of the projects in mind by the provincial government are in the Okanagan Valley, already one of the largest fruit producing areas of the nation.

Martin Tells Plans To Improve Health Service For Indians

Measures to improve health services among British Columbia's native Indians were outlined here today by National Health and Welfare Minister Paul Martin, on a two-day visit to Vancouver Island.

Mr. Martin reported that his department had recently appointed full-time medical officers for the Indian health services division at Duncan, Kamloops and Vancouver. He added that the department now has 10 full-time visiting nurses at various reserves throughout the province and three more will report for duty in the near future.

A full-time regional superintendent of Indian health services, Col. P. S. Tennant, has been appointed for B.C. Col. Tennant, medical officer of Indian health services at Kamloops before joining the army, had considerable experience in the treatment of trachoma and will concentrate on the elimination of this disease and in public health measures amongst Indians of the province, Mr. Martin said.

HIGHEST PROPORTION

"British Columbia has the second largest Indian population of any province," he noted and the highest proportion of Indian population of any province.

"I feel that the action which is being taken to extend medical services among Indians will have a beneficial effect on public health," he said.

Mr. Martin reported that his department was in the process of establishing a civil service health division in Vancouver which would provide the same health services to federal civil servants in British Columbia as has been inaugurated in Ottawa and planned for the whole Dominion.

The service will include emergency care while at work and health counselling by a nursing staff specially trained in social and industrial nursing. He said some difficulty had been experienced in finding suitable space but it was believed that accommodation will soon be available.

Mr. Martin also reported that consideration was being given to consolidating the three federal health services offices in Vancouver—which would unite the department's local offices for treatment of sick mariners, a federal civil service health centre and services for treatment and examination of Indians adjacent to Vancouver.

Signal For Lifts

Mayor Percy George today endorsed the idea, advanced by some citizens, that those who, during the transportation strike, wish to get a lift should display a white handkerchief.

He hoped the suggestion would not be abused, and only those who need rides either to get to work, to keep appointments with dentist or doctor, or to visit hospitals, would avail themselves of it.

World-Wide Popular Support Needed For Peace, Says Martin

National Health and Welfare Minister Paul Martin, a former delegate to the United Nations General Assembly, said here today that only if there is in Canada and throughout the world a great gathering of popular support can the United Nations make progress toward world peace.

"Public opinion is a potent force in the world of today," said Mr. Martin in an address to the Canadian Club this afternoon at Empress Hotel. Mr. Martin added that Canada has a fundamental interest in the establishment of international order.

"Our stake in world peace is as great as any nation in the world," he said. "Canada is today the third largest exporting nation and the fourth industrial power in the world. One-third of our national income is derived from what we are able to sell to other nations."

Mr. Martin suggested that what was needed today was a dynamic approach to the problems of world peace.

"The only peace we can hope for or contemplate for years to come is a peace effected and maintained through the energy and effort of people everywhere," he said. "Any easy, effortless peace is just not possible. We will have a dynamic peace or we will have no peace at all."

NEW RESPONSIBILITIES

Canada is the only country with the exception of the Big Five which has representation on the Security Council as well as the Economic and Social Council, Mr. Martin noticed, saying this fact signified the respect in which Canada was held by the other nations of the world. But, he said, election of Canada to the Security Council placed new responsibilities on this country.

"Today, with many important and complex problems pressing for solution, we shall be contributing to decisions on major questions of policy arising from situations in distant parts of the world," he said. "Membership in the Security Council will bring an even greater degree of responsibility than it seemed to offer two years ago at the London meeting of the General Assembly when Canada made way for the election of Australia to the council."

Mr. Martin criticized the work of the Security Council to date, claiming that thus far it had failed to fulfill the claims and high hopes which were held on its behalf.

"Certain nations have used the forum of the Security Council for selfish purposes and as a means for propaganda rather than a means for progress," he said. "There has been little concrete evidence in the council of a sincere desire to reach agreed solutions."

"This is a good time for some plain speaking. The weaknesses which have been displayed in the organization requires that we be both practical and objective so that faults may be eliminated and the United Nations rendered effective and permanent."

He said Canadian attitude toward the establishment of the World Trade Organization was based on a desire to prevent the recurrence of competitive friction between nations. International co-operation the world will see a return to an era of extreme economic nationalism such as led up to the last war.

Recently the lesson of interdependence of nations had been learned, said Mr. Martin.

WORLD PEACE EFFORT

"In spite of its shortcomings we in this country continue to believe that the best hope for mankind lies in the establishment of a world organization for the maintenance of peace," he continued. "Canada has already given the world an example of what can be done by building a nation as wide as a continent and which is based upon the consent of many diversified groups."

"There is no reason to believe that our experience here and the experience of other peoples who have built political organizations over wide areas cannot be repeated amongst the nations."

"For a people such as ours which desire to maintain its own freedom and to leave other peoples in the enjoyment of their freedom, the greatest hope for survival lies in the development of machinery for international co-operation."

"We have only just begun to realize how great that task really is. If we are to eliminate the basic causes of war we will have to deal with almost the entire range of human activity."

He outlined some of the U.N.'s organizations, mentioning the International Labor Office, the Food and Agricultural Organization and the International Bank and Fund.

While all had not been well in the U.N., Mr. Martin said, it should be remembered that the organization has had only two years of trial, and despite disputes and controversies which have occupied the headlines some solid gains had been achieved.

"The supreme effort to save civilization from another war has aroused the reason and the conscience of mankind," he said. "For we at long last have realized that if we do not make an end to war, then war will surely make an end to us."

No Results From Mayors' Conference On Transit Strike

The three mayors of Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster are holding themselves in readiness for another meeting should there be an indication of any manner in which they could act to speed the settlement of the transit strike, Mayor Percy George said today on his return from a conference in Vancouver.

Acting Mayor Charles Jones of Vancouver, Mayor William Mott of New Westminster and Mayor George said today on his return from a conference in Vancouver, consulting with representatives of both the union and the B.C. Electric Railway Company in an effort to find some means of getting transportation back, the mayor reported.

However, other than learning more of the details of the dispute and being given a clear picture of the stand taken by both sides, the conference got nowhere, Mayor George said.

John MacKay has been appointed superintendent of stationery for the King's Printer, succeeding Fred J. White, who has retired on superannuation after 28 years' service with the government printing bureau.

Mr. MacKay was formerly assistant to Mr. White. On the occasion of his retirement, Mr. White received a memento, cigarette box and wallet from the staff. The presentation was made by Don McDiarmid, King's Printer.

Fire Destroys Roof In Victoria West

A defective chimney and high winds were held responsible for the blaze which destroyed the roof of the home of Charles R. Keays, 920 Hereward Road, Victoria West, at 10:30 this morning.

Deputy Fire Chief Phillip Guy, who attended the fire, said it was most likely the fire started at the rear of the house with high winds fanning the flames across other parts of the roof.

Occupants of the house were out when the blaze occurred. Firemen broke down a door to rescue two dogs which were locked in the house.

Smallest Tax Sale In City's History

Victoria will have the smallest tax sale in its history this year, A. G. Joyce, assistant assessor-collector, said today, announcing that only 10 parcels of property remain on the tax sale list at present. Owners have until 10 o'clock Monday morning to redeem the property before it is put on the tax sale list at that time.

There are still several houses included among the 10 parcels, he said, but felt there was little doubt but what they would be redeemed before sale time.

Last year 22 parcels of property were sold. The upset price of the property is the accumulation of 1945, 1946 and 1947 taxes, Mr. Joyce explained, but the owners may keep them off the sale list by paying only the 1945 taxes and penalties. The owners have a year in which to redeem any property sold by tax sale, as the purchaser is not given possession or title for a year.

Vic Painter, 207 Maddock Street, reported to city police Thursday that a tire and rim were stolen off his wood truck while parked in the yard on Wilson Street, near Victoria West Park.

Conservatives Make Test In British Municipal Elections

LONDON (Reuter)—The Conservative Party is making a strong bid to reverse the leftward trend in the annual polls for city councils of Britain's municipalities.

Polling will take place Saturday in 300 English and Welsh boroughs, London excepted. Elections in the 200 Scottish municipalities will take place next Tuesday.

Conservatives in a large number of cities have adopted the recommendation of the recent Conservative Party conference at Brighton, Sussex, that they should present themselves to the electors under their national party title as Conservatives and not as "Progressives," "Municipal Reformers," or under other names.

Because of the peculiar electoral system operating in provincial cities, the Conservatives will have to fight hard if they are to make any impression on the leftward trend of recent years.

One-third of the municipal councillors retire each year. In last year's polls the Labor Party had a net gain of 159 council seats in England and Wales. The Conservatives' net gain was only four seats.

Labor gains were mainly at the expense of "Independent" candidates, who, in national politics, are in most cases indistinguishable from Conservatives. Last year, 217 Communist candidates ran but only one was elected.

LONDON — Sir Frederick Pacey Rutter, governor of the London and Lancashire Insurance Co. Ltd., who attended the company's first annual meeting in 1874 as a 15-year-old clerk, is retiring, aged 98.

Intent On Drafting Eisenhower

Though "Ike" Eisenhower has not announced his intention to run for Presidency of the U.S., associations have sprung up across the country with the slogan: "Draft Eisenhower for President." Peggy Freabault, secretary of a Washington club urging "Ike's" nomination, shows some of the posters and buttons already distributed as part of the publicity drive.

Uncle Ray

YOUNG SCOTSMAN GAVE HIS NAME TO GREAT TREE

Few other trees, if any, have so many names as a certain tall tree which grows along the Pacific coast, from southern Alaska and British Columbia southward into California.

The names of this tree include the Douglas spruce, the Douglas fir, the Douglas pine, the Oregon pine, the Oregon spruce, the red fir and the yellow fir. One tree expert says, "It is neither a fir nor a spruce nor a pine, but a false hemlock."

That leaves a person in some doubt as to what this tree should be called! In any case it is one of the world's important timber trees. It grows to be more than 200 feet tall, and heights of from 380 to 417 feet have been claimed for certain members of the family.

The Douglas fir (or pine or spruce or hemlock) was named in honor of David Douglas, a Scotsman.

Douglas was born at Scone, Scotland, 149 years ago. When he was only 25 years old, he sailed to North America, visiting cities along the Atlantic coast of Canada and the United States. Then he made a long journey around the southern end of South America, and northward to the valley of the Columbia River. Leaving that valley, he made his way through the Canadian Rockies to Hudson Bay before going back to Great Britain again.

At the age of 35 Douglas made another trip to the New World, visiting California, the Oregon country and Puget Sound. He was a botanist, and took great interest in the plants which he found in various places. He sent the seeds or cuttings of more than 200 kinds of shrubs and trees to Scotland. Many of the seeds and cuttings found their way to the mainland of Europe, and in this manner the people of Germany, France and other countries came to know a great number of shrubs and trees which they never had seen before.

After his second visit to the Pacific coast of this continent, David Douglas set out on his return trip to Great Britain, but failed to finish it. While visiting the Hawaiian Islands, he was attacked and killed by an angry bull. Thus ended the life of a brilliant young scientist, at the age of 36.

It is well that Douglas should be honored in the name of tall, stately and beautiful evergreen trees of the Pacific coast.

Births Decline; Deaths Increase

Although deaths increased by 7 per cent and births declined by 8 per cent in Victoria during the third-quarter of 1947 as compared with the same period in 1946, according to the report issued today by J. L. Murray Anderson, medical health officer, the birth rate was still almost twice the death rate.

The birth rate was 24.2, with 566 live births recorded in the three-month period; while the death rate was 12.6, with 296 deaths listed.

The number of marriages in the period declined from the 1946 figure also, with 337 marriages this year and 353 last year.

The figure for violent or accidental deaths increased from five to eight for the three-month period, but there were only two fatal automobile accidents recorded for the quarterly period, compared with seven in the previous quarter.

Reporting on the poliomyelitis situation, Dr. Anderson said there were 17 cases admitted to the isolation hospital, the two age groups being most affected were in the one to four years of age, with five cases, and the over 20-year-olds with seven cases.

Appeal Court
Session Ends

The fall session of the Court of Appeal came to an end Thursday following one of the longest sittings since the war. Over 52 cases were heard by the court which sat since Sept. 9.

The last case heard was the appeal of Mrs. Violet Shaw, Vancouver, who sued for damages against members of the Ancient and Mystical Order of Rosae Crucis, charging she had been wrongfully excommunicated from the religious philosophical organization.

Judgment in the case, along with many others, will be handed down by the court in Vancouver, where it is scheduled to sit Nov. 4.

Shipping Regulations
To Be Investigated

J. V. Johnson has been elected to represent and act on behalf of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island in meetings with representatives of the Vancouver Board of Trade and the Canadian Manufacturers' Association which are to be held in the near future to investigate present restrictions governing coastal shipping companies with the view of protecting the public from any further increases in freight rates.

Concern over the fact that there appear to be no controls over the shipping companies of this coast in regard to when and how they can raise freight rates was expressed at a meeting of the executive council of the A.B.T.V.I. held in Nanaimo Wednesday. It was pointed out to the meeting the 30 per cent freight rate increase, which went into effect last September, came without warning. It was further stated that the rise was most unfair to people living on the island.

R.C.M.P. Talks For School Children

Cpl. Jack Brooke, of the Vancouver R.C.M.P. detachment, is at present in Victoria to show films and give talks to school children as part of the "Youth and the Police" plan of the R.C.M.P.

Already he has shown the film "Through the Northwest Passages" to approximately 900 Victoria school children, and has been allotted 40 minutes at each school.

The plan, it was explained, is to promote among young people the impression that the policeman is not a person to be avoided or shunned, but one who is willing and anxious to be a friend and counsellor to all boys and girls. It is hoped, by this method, to reduce the incidence of juvenile delinquency.

The film is the story of the history-making voyage of the R.C.M.P. Esquimalt-based schooner St. Roch, through the Arctic to Halifax.

He is also addressing other young people's groups during his 10-day stay in Victoria, Monday 280 members of the Kiwanis Junior Safety Patrol will see his films and hear him speak.

Engineer Advocates
Sewage System, Also
Canal For Saanich

Need for the undertaking of two major projects by the municipality of Saanich was shown in a film entitled "The Search for Health Goes Underground," which was screened at Thursday's meeting of the Victoria Rotary Club by Howard Dawson, municipal engineer, and Dr. J. L. Gayton, municipal health officer.

The film depicted the urgent need for the abolition of septic tanks now in use, and showed the benefits which would result from the installation of a proper sewage system.

The film also showed the benefits which would come about if the Gorge waterways were developed by putting in a canal through the 1,500 feet of land between the top of Portage Inlet to Thetis Cove in Esquimalt Harbor.

In dealing with the canal proposal, Mr. Dawson said it is the best possible solution for getting rid of the polluted water and the tangled weeds now in the waterway. If the Gorge was developed properly, he continued, it would serve as a playground for Greater Victoria residents and would be a great attraction for tourists.

It was noted, however, that a sewage system would be needed to keep the Gorge clean. Mr. Dawson pointed out that at the present time, much pollution in the Gorge is caused by seepage from nearby septic tanks.

Mr. Dawson also explained how uncovered ditches containing seepage from septic tanks attracts flies and rats and he noted the danger of such pests to public health.

In outlining the proposed sewage plan which will be submitted to the voters of Saanich Dec. 13, Mr. Dawson said the proposed system calls for 55 miles of sewer, 40 miles of house connection and 15,000 feet of tunnel. While the project will cost $1,615,000 it will serve 2,200 acres and it will provide facilities for extending the service to 4,700 other acres.

The new system would dispose of the sewage in deep sea water, the speaker noted.

Poland Wants Mounties To Work On Treasures Lost In Canada

OTTAWA (P)—The Canadian government shortly will disclose the whole story of the disappearing Polish national treasures, an External Affairs Department official said today.

An account detailing developments in the year-long squabble over the "priceless" works of art between Polish factions is in preparation by the department and is to be released in the next few days.

That was as far as the department would go today in commenting on a report from New York quoting Dr. Tadeusz Zebrowski, Polish official, as saying the Canadian government was "hesitating" in acting on a request from Poland that the case be turned over to the R.C.M.P.

NEW YORK (CP)—The tangled mystery of the vanished Polish state treasures seems as far from solution today as ever, despite the request of the Polish government that Canada turn loose the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to ferret out the hidden collection of Gobelins, tapestries, silver and the coronation sword of the Polish kings.

Dr. Tadeusz Zebrowski, member of the Polish United Nations delegation and official of the Polish Foreign Office, revealed here Thursday night in an interview that the Warsaw government had made this request to Ottawa three weeks ago, but there had been no reply.

From information available here, it seems unlikely Canada will accede to this request for R.C.M.P. action, but Canadian sources at the U.N. who are acquainted with the question would only say the government has the Polish note "under consideration."

The treasures were brought to Canada from Cracow, Poland, in 1940 for safekeeping. They vanished a year ago without a trace.

Zebrowski said legal action was planned in the Canadian courts by the Polish government to recover the treasures, of immense historic value to the Polish people.

But before court action was launched it was necessary to find out who was responsible for their disappearance and also where the treasures were located at present.

This was why the Poles made this unusual request to the Canadian government.

They had coupled with it, Zebrowski said, another request that Canada issue some sort of an injunction to prevent the treasures being spirited away to the United States or some other country in a new move by their present possessors to evade giving them up.

It poses another extremely ticklish problem for the External Affairs Department in Ottawa, which has been withholding the inside story of Polish-Canadian negotiations that the Polish diplomat told in detail in the interview. His basic facts are not challenged by the Canadians here.

The background of the marathon mystery involves a bitter political feud between the Warsaw government and a small group of Poles in Canada which still staunchly supports the former London-Polish government-in-exile, now recognized by only a few countries.

It is accepted by most people who have followed the dispute that some members of this latter Polish group are responsible for the disappearance of the treasures from convents in Ottawa and Quebec City.

IMPETIGO—AN UGLY SKIN INFECTION

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

The average patient with impetigo is more apt to spread the infection on his own skin than he is to give it to someone else. Susceptibility to impetigo varies in different persons, although it may become a serious epidemic problem in a group of children or adults living under identical conditions.

Impetigo starts as a small skin blister which ruptures, leaving an open sore that is quickly covered with a crust. These crusts are yellow to brown in color and, even though they have the appearance of being stuck on the skin, they are removed easily. The disease spreads in circles around the edge, and the patch tends to heal in the centre as it becomes larger. Infection may develop at some distance from the original eruption, through transfer by fingers or contaminated articles.

Face, hands, arms and legs are most often affected by impetigo. The disease is common in young children, especially in warm weather.

Impetigo is caused by germs normally present on the skin, which, through circumstances unknown at the present time, cause blisters to form. The condition seems to be more common in those who are careless in personal hygiene and use dirty washcloths and towels.

Incubation period varies from two to five days. New spots may appear following treatment of the original site, because of the lag in development. The average impetigo patient gets well in three to 10 days, although infections in heavily bearded persons can take longer. A special, severe form of contagious impetigo occurs in infants.

Treatment of impetigo consists of removing or softening the crust and opening the blister so that the base of the sore may be treated. An ointment containing one of the sulfa drugs usually is effective. In severe cases, hospital treatment may be necessary because of the large area of skin which is affected. Other types of medication can be applied to the sore if the sulfa treatment is not successful.

The affected skin should be washed with soap and water several times daily. Wash the broken-out spot last and dry by patting—not rubbing. Both washcloth and towel should be kept separate, and should be boiled and washed frequently. Impetigo heals without a permanent scar, unless it has been scratched excessively.

Question: I have an infected cyst at the end of my spine, which has been lanced three times. I have been told I was born with it. Could it be cancerous?

3-Month-Old Baby Found Dead In Crib

A three-month-old baby, Frederick Lord, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lord, Deep Cove, was found dead by suffocation in his crib at 11.50 last night at the home of R. V. Kelly, Stelly's crossroad, the Saanich Fire Department reported today.

According to firemen, who attended with an inhalator and worked on the child for some time without results, the child was visited at 11 and when visited again at 11.50 for the purpose of feeding was found dead. The baby was lying on its stomach and apparently suffocated when sleeping, his face pressed against the crib mattress.

Deputy Fire Chief Frank Miller and Fireman J. Cambrey attended for the fire department and Sgt. Cecil Pearce and Constable T. Matheson for the Saanich Police.

answered the plea for Chest canvassers, it was reported. The school board has granted use of a school building for activities of the Saanich Suburban Community Centre.

It was decided to make the November meeting of the council a semi-annual meeting, to which affiliated organizations will be invited to send delegates and hear reports on the work going on.

Screen's Favorite Rogue Featured

Boston Blackie, movie audiences' favorite rogue, is currently playing cops and robbers... for keeps... at the Rio Theatre, where "A Close Call for Boston Blackie" is featuring Chester Morris, Lynn Merrick, Richard Lane, Frank Sully and George E. Stone.

The screenplay was written by Ben Markson from the story of Paul Yawitz.

OAK BAY THEATRE

Audrey Totter is heard but not seen in the new Van Johnson-June Allyson co-starring romance, "High Barbaree," the attraction at the Oak Bay Theatre.

The young actress, who hails from Joliet, Ill., impersonates the voice of Tokyo Rose for a sequence in the film. Because of her radio background and her linguistic accomplishments, Miss Totter was persuaded to record the sequence after a number of other actresses had been tested.

The Tokyo Rose broadcast plays an important part in a scene in which Van Johnson and Cameron Mitchell, as stranded navy fliers, try to contact their base.

PLAZA THEATRE

In "A Place of One's Own," currently at the Plaza Theatre, James Mason and Barbara Mullen play the part of a middle-aged couple who retire from their business with plenty of money. They look for a house to settle in and their choice is a dilapidated and neglected estate, which is reputed to be haunted. Co-starring in this exciting and dramatic picture are Dulcie Gray, Moore Marriott, Margaret Lockwood and Michael Shepley.

Where To Go Tonight

(As Advertised)
ATLAS—Loretta Young and Joseph Cotton in "The Farmer's Daughter."

CAPITOL—Robert Young and Susan Hayward in "They Won't Believe Me."

DOMINION—Roy Rogers in "Bells of San Angelo."

OAK BAY—High Barbaree, starring Van Johnson.

PLAZA—"A Place of One's Own," starring Margaret Lockwood and James Mason.

RIO—Chester Morris and Lynn Merrick in "A Close Call."

ROYAL—Betty Grable in "Mother Wore Tights."

YORK—Bette Davis in "A Stolen Life."

ROYAL THEATRE

The most popular modern music being written today is for screen musicals!

That's a strong statement, but Joe Myrow, the composer who makes it, has a long list of hits to his credit, and knows pretty well what the public likes.

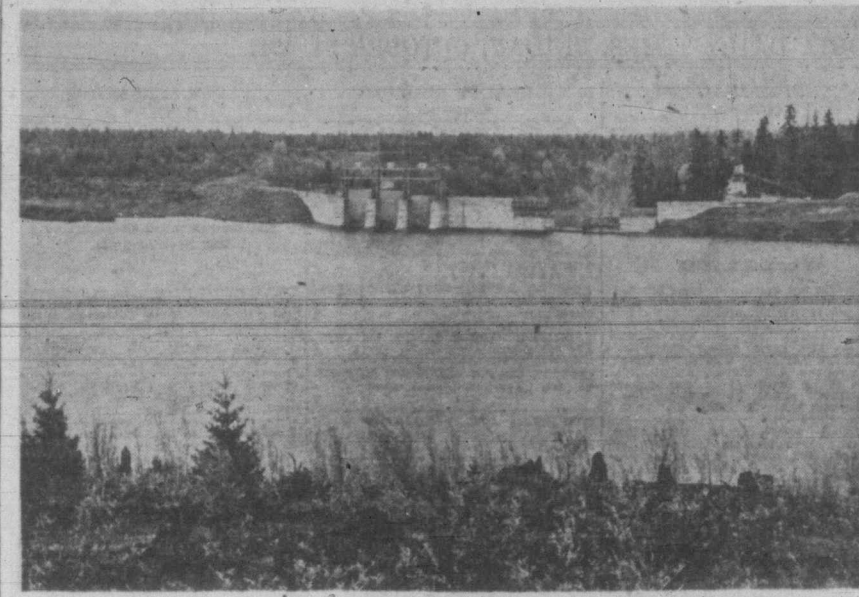

Myrow has just completed the music to Mack Gordon's lyrics for Twentieth Century-Fox's technicolor production, "Mother Wore Tights," which stars Betty Grable with the sensational new dancing "discovery," Dan Dailey. The film is currently at the Royal Theatre.

YORK THEATRE

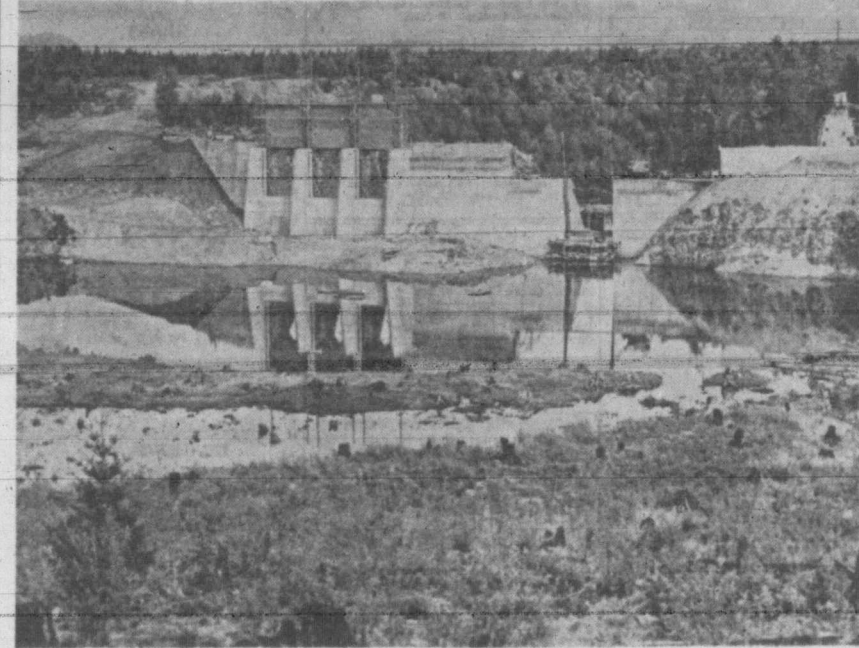

However it affects some people, the Marine Corps put 20 pounds on Glenn Ford.

The actor served two years, eight months with the leather-necks and, upon receiving an honorable discharge, checked into Warner Bros. for the biggest role of his career as Bette Davis' leading man in "A Stolen Life," currently at the York.

New Lake Forms On Campbell River

As concrete is poured into the last few remaining sections of the head dam at Irene Pool for the B.C. Power Commission's Campbell River Development, water is rising in a new lake back of the dam. The new lake is shown above. It will be 670 acres in extent.

Above the lake is shown as it was beginning to form. A section of the dam was left open until the last to permit the river water to flow through while other sections of the dam were built. The coffer dam, placed in front of the open section to halt the river flow, is shown in this picture.

Roy Rogers Starred In Dominion Film

In "Bells of San Angelo," starring Roy Rogers today at the Dominion Theatre, suspense and comic relief have been so deftly combined with a smooth plot that the result is superb entertainment.

What's more, the magnificent tricolor in which the picture was photographed adds to its audience value. Nevada's rugged mountain terrain is the impressive background for the telling of the story, and Jack Marta's work with the camera has captured this colorful grandeur.

ATLAS THEATRE

It is a family as well as a professional get-together, with Ethel Barrymore and Harry Davenport both cast in RKO Radio's comedy drama, "The Farmer's Daughter," now at the Atlas Theatre. Miss Barrymore and Davenport are related by marriage. Of a trio of sisters, Davenport married one, Lionel Barrymore another, and Sidney Drew wed the third. Although they have been friends for many years, "The Farmer's Daughter" marks the first film together for Miss Barrymore and the veteran actor. Loretta Young and Joseph Cotton are Miss Barrymore's co-stars in the picture.

CAPITOL THEATRE

The gripping story of a playboy who wreaks havoc with the lives of three women is told in RKO Radio's new dramatic offering, "They Won't Believe Me," now being shown at the Capitol Theatre, starring Robert Young, Susan Hayward and Jane Greer. Young is the playboy who, married to a wealthy wife, cannot resist other women. The Misses Hayward and Greer are the "other women," and Rita Johnson is the wife who makes a vain fight to keep her husband by the power of the pursestrings. Her failure leads to tragic happenings and a sensational climactic retribution for her wayward husband.

Hollywood Panicky About Rising Costs, Says Frank Capra

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Picture of a guy working over a hot typewriter...

So you don't think Hollywood is scared about rising costs, etc? Listen to Frank Capra: "I haven't seen the town so panicky since the banks closed in 1933." That's what the man said...

Yet the night-club business is going great guns. New hot spots are opening up every week and lots of big-time talent entertaining.

Observation on the new comics: None shows more promise than Danny Thomas... On the old comics and their fall air shows: Nothing new has been added...

Things I could do without: Any more of those skinny, long-haired model-like leading ladies with no character in their faces and no talent...

New word for the Hollywood glossary: Leaklight. Definition: A player opposite a big star; the lights are focussed on the star and the other player gets whatever light leaks in his direction.

LITTLE FUSS

It's amazing how little conversation is being evoked around the studios about the Washington investigation. Most of the ground has been covered before... Wonder if the mediocre business done by "Life With Father" will prove to movie moguls that only the greatest of pictures can be shown successfully at advanced prices.

Hollywood is a place where they send you an urgent telegram inviting you to a preview two weeks hence... It's a blessing for reporters that all stars aren't as elusive as Barbara Stanwyck... If they all were only like Van Johnson and June Allyson, what an easy job this would be... Not that I'm complaining, mind you. I like it here.

BRIEF REVIEW

"This Time for Keeps" is an other mixture from the M-G-M musical formula. Ingredients: Esther Williams' swimming, Jimmy Durante's clowning, Lauritz Melchior's operatics, Johnny Johnston's crooning, colorful scenery (Mackinac Island), plus the usual paper-thin plot. Put them all together they spell entertainment, if nothing new.

CHURCH BROUGHTON, Derbyshire—The airfield here is being plowed for agricultural purposes.

Would you be in the dog house if your house burned tonight?
by Jon herold

LAST WEEK I woke up to the fact that I was carrying only about 40 per cent enough insurance on my house.

If your house burned tonight, would you want enough insurance money to rebuild only about two-fifths of it?

Don't kid yourself about this discrepancy. Ask a contractor to give you a rough idea as to what he'd charge you to rebuild. You'll get an answer which will probably shock you into upping your insurance.

It is utterly ridiculous to carry too little insurance, because, in my opinion, fire insurance is one thing in this country that is dirt cheap today. (The average cost has gone down 40 per cent in 30 years.)

What I say about home insurance applies to furnishings, too:

Also to business property. Replacement values here, too, have skyrocketed in recent years but many owners are fast asleep with their same old pre-war insurance coverage.

Ask us TODAY to help you determine your real insurance needs—it's a technical problem which calls for expert help.

Selectives Lean Toward Recovery

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks leaned selectively toward recovery today, although many leaders continued to falter and dealings were among the slowest of the last month.

Steels got an early lift and favored industrials moved ahead by midday with timid buying attributed mainly to the feeling that the list had been oversold. While gains of fractions to a point or so persisted near the close, there were numerous losers.

Among Canadian issues Distillers Seagrams gained $\frac{1}{2}$, and McIntyre dropped $\frac{1}{2}$.

Dow Jones averages closed today as follows:
30 Industrials 181.81, up 0.49
20 rails 48.75, up 0.24
15 utilities 34.88, unchanged
65 stocks 64.55, up 0.18
Total sales 800,000
